The term, "oldest living thing on earth" pops up with a regularity that may also that may almost be reduced to a mathematical formula but this rather general and loose term is not always to be taken too seriously unless it is explained in detail so that there may be no doubt as to what is meant by the "oldest living thing on earth."

To this famous phrase "oldest living thing on earth" must be added another popular phrase, "largest living thing on earth." If a person talks pompously, using either or both of these phrases he may be able to start an argument right then and there with the local booster of a particular entry for hours under the great American pastime of insisting that this or that is the "oldest living thing on earth" or the "largest living thing on earth" or "the greatest this or that on earth." And most persons stand ready to defend these ambiguous statements with equally ambiguous arguments.

If you happen to mention in the presence of an Australian "the oldest living thing on earth" he promptly thinks of the eucalyptus tree in Australia; if you mention the "largest living thing on earth" he promptly thinks of the eucalyptus tree in Australia. If you happen to mention in the presence of an American who has visited Sequoia National Park the "oldest living thing on earth" he promptly thinks of the General Sherman tree; if mention is made of the "largest living thing on earth" he thinks of the General Sherman tree. And it is useless to talk further with either the Australian or the American.

Now with the establishment of the Joshua Tree National Monument in our own desert country the phrase "oldest living thing on earth" pops up with all the generalization that attends statements of this character. But here we are on different ground which introduces a "joker" that is almost vicious in character. The age of the eucalyptus tree can be measured; the age of the giant sequoia can be measured; but the age of the Joshua cannot be measured. No person can stand up and say that an adult Joshua tree is of such and such an age. If he does he is talking "through his hat" or does not care about the statement he is making.

The Joshua tree is of sufficient individuality, character and strangeness that it is entirely unnecessary to tack on to it the phrases that are applied to other trees and more rightly belong there. With the eucalyptus and the giant sequoia there is some reasonable ground for characterizing them as the "oldest and largest living things on earth" but with the Joshua tree it is merely an attempt to bring to the Joshua tree something that it has no right to; its age cannot be stated and of course there is no argument on the subject of size.

If we wish to get into this generalization chaff, the term "weirdest tree on the desert" might be quite safe; with a little less caution we might say "weirdest tree in the United States."

1025 Telephones in Palm Springs

If the number of telephones is an indication of the wealth or population of a community, Palm Springs is becoming a fairly large town.

More than a thousand telephones, 1025 to be exact, are active in this community, and more are being added daily. Of this number about 350 are PBX (Private Business Exchange) phones in eleven hotels and apartment houses.

The number of active telephones here now is equal to the number at the peak of last season in February. Several hundred more telephones will be connected before next February.

Decide to Incorporate

Unanimous Vote at Big Meeting Last Night

That Palm Springs must incorporate, because there is no other alternative for home rule or proper and orderly development of the community, was the consensus of opinion at the mass meeting in the school auditorium, last evening.

Three hundred or more citizens, representing every section of the community, were present, and without a dissenting vote they decided that "it is the sentiment of this meeting that Palm Springs should incorporate," and by the same unanimous vote they instructed Temporary Chairman Frank Bennett to appoint a committee to work out the details, the committee to consist of those men who have made a study of incorporation and zoning. The first motion was made by Warren B. Pinney and the second by Horace Cook.

The general opinion also seemed to be that the incorporated area should include 15 square miles, five miles long, from the Racquet club to the south end of Tahquitz Desert Estates, and three miles wide, from the mountains to section lines on the desert. This area would include all subdivisions, such as Palm Springs Village Tract, Palm Springs Desert Estates, Desert Sands, Tahquitz Desert Estates, Araby, Smoke Tree Ranch, the Field Club and High School, and all inhabited sections of the Indian reservation.

Chairman Bennett, who is also president of the Chamber of Commerce, explained at the outset that it was not a Chamber of Commerce meeting, but that it had been called by the Chamber only to get the opinions of the people of Palm Springs and of any other area that might be included in the corporation.

In order that the matter might be considered thoroughly before any action was taken by those assembled, Robert Ransom presented the matter of regional zoning. He stated that regional planning or zoning could be accomplished in 45 days, whereas 90 days will be required for incorporation. He stated it is of vital importance to clean up areas in the residential and business section, all the way from the Palm Springs Station to and including Cathedral City, which could be included in a regional zone. Thus, he said, unsightly signs and buildings could be kept off the highway.

Regional zoning will not take care of police, fire and sanitary regulations, stated Chuck Morrison. "We will still have to call on the police to enforce zoning rules," he said, "and we will be in politics just as much as under incorporation, for we still have to elect zoning, police, fire, and sanitary commissioners. Right now we need four more policemen and another police car; and fire protection in Tahquitz Desert Estates."

Attorney Guy Pinney stated that after incorporation the city council can appoint a planning commission and enforce its rules through the police department, and take care of all the other things now done by the various boards.

Thomas Lipps stated that incorporation will not conflict with regional planning. He stated that certain business men have been criticized for their continuous activity in doing the work of the community. These same men have spent thousands of dollars of their own money and weeks of time in doing this work, he said. Under incorporation the expense of this work will be borne by the entire community with no excessive burden on any individual except the city councilmen, who must give their time without compensation.

Earl Coffman called attention to the "big bugaboo" that alternating sections, which are Indian reservation, may not be included in the corporation, and if included, there is a difference of opinion as to whether areas that are not contiguous, touching only at corners, can all become parts of the city.

Hooray for Jimmy

If the ads in this issue are a little over-enthusiastic, or a few mistakes occur, please don't be too harsh on Jimmy Cooper, The Desert Sun's advertising man, for Jimmy has had a strenuous time the past few days.

Late Wednesday night Jimmy was called to St. Joseph's Hospital in Orange in an effort to beat the stork to that institution. Jimmy got there first, but the stork arrived soon afterward with a fine eight-pound baby girl, to be a playmate to the Cooper's 16-month-old daughter, Suzanne. Mrs. Cooper, the baby, and Jimmy are all getting along nicely, although Jimmy is dead on his feet from loss of sleep.

Mrs. Cooper (nee Dorothy Lynch) is a sister of Mrs. Ralph Marvin and Mrs. Kenneth Brott of Palm Springs, and her parents were former residents here. The score is now a tie between Jimmy and Ralph, each having two daughters, and Kenneth only one.

Peace Officers Meet Here Dec. 3

Approximately 250 officers will meet here on December 3 for the annual joint meeting of Riverside and Imperial Counties' Peace Officers' Associations, at the Desert Inn.

All law enforcement officers of the two counties are expected to attend the meeting. Coroner Ben White, of Riverside, is president of this county's association and Sheriff Bob Ware, of Imperial, head of that county's group.

A feature of the meeting will be a pistol shoot at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at a location just west of the village. A half dozen teams from the two counties will compete. This will be the second of a series of three shoots for a beautiful trophy. The first contest was won by the Police department of Riverside.

Desert Lecture Course Draws Crowds

The University of California lecture course on the fauna, flora and geology of the desert, each Monday evening at the grammar school, is meeting a popular demand, and the number attending increases each meeting.

Don Admiral, naturalist and lecturer, has charge of the course for the state university. The subject of his illustrated lecture last Monday evening was "Desert Trees and a Short Review of Geology."

Registrations for the class will still be open next Monday evening.

$181,000 New Construction 15 Days

The largest volume of new construction for any 15-day period since the survey was started here last spring, is the record for the first 15 days of this month. The total of new construction started from November 1 to 15 is $181,000, which brings the total for the year beginning January 1st, to $2,652,250, with prospects that the total for the year will exceed three million dollars.

The survey, which has been made by Joe Schobe for the Mason Case Company, includes only new buildings costing $2,000 or more, and no small residences, garages, or repair jobs.

Twenty-three new buildings, over $2,000 in value, were started the first 15 days of this month. As usual, the residences included in these figures average about $10,000 in cost, and are built for the owners and not for resale.

Two jobs which will undoubtedly be started before the first of the year, the $100,000 high school and a new club house, estimated at well over $100,000, will add considerably to the year's total.

To Start on High School by February

Work will start on Palm Springs' new $100,000 high school before February 1. The high school board received information yesterday that the P.W.A. money is available. The board now has the deed to the 20-acre tract east of the Field Club and bids can be called as soon as final plans are approved at P.W.A. offices.

Government officials phoned Architect G. Stanley Wilson of Riverside yesterday and asked him to set the latest date when the work could be started. He said it would be before February 1st, and that the building can be completed by July 1st. Although government officials did not say in so many words that President Roosevelt had signed the P.W.A. appropriation for the Palm Springs and Banning high schools, it is believed the local project was among the $30,000,000 of P.W.A. projects approved by the President the day before he left on his South American trip. At least, the government official who phoned said the money is now ready.

The high school board met last night and approved the plans. Architect Wilson and his staff will have some detail work to do on the plans. Then after final approval of the plans by P.W.A. and state school officials, the high school board will call for bids. This will require three weeks. The successful bidder will have thirty days to begin construction.

9th Annual Swim Event Sunday

The Ninth Annual A. A. U. Desert Swimming Meet will be held at El Mirador Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. National and international champions, as well as numerous motion picture stars will be here for the occasion.

TWA airlines have made arrangements to connect with the Palm Springs airline to bring the celebrities, as well as news-reel cameramen, to Palm Springs.

El Mirador's desert-swimming meets have been growing in importance and nationwide recognition each season, until it has become one of the foremost sports events of the winter season. The swimming and diving event brings many important people to Palm Springs every season.

Raswan Has Harrowing Experience

Carl R. Raswan, noted author and Arabian explorer, who spent last season in Palm Springs, returned here yesterday, accompanied by M. M. Reichmann, L. D., L. S. E., of Cairo, Egypt. Mr. Raswan will be remembered as the author of "Black Tents of Arabia," who delivered several lectures here last winter.

He had a most harrowing experience during the recent journey, his twelfth trip to Arabia in the past 25 years. Rebel Arabian tribes were threatening to invade Palestine. To do his part to prevent such a bloody campaign of terrorism, Mr. Raswan permitted himself to be captured by the rebel tribes, in order to learn the identities of the rebel leaders. After he obtained this information, he escaped, and transmitted his findings to the British.

The British confirmed the reports through Ibn Saud, king of Arabia, who was loyal to the British but who had been suspected of being in sympathy with the rebels. Ibn Saud verified the report by proving the rebel leaders had been exiled by him. These leaders were later either captured by the British or were scattered throughout Syria, Palestine, Transjordan and Iraq.

Carl Raswan's part in preventing the invasion was motivated solely by his desire for peace and his love for humanity. He stated yesterday that he is not pro-Arab, pro-British, nor pro-Jew, but knowing the warring Bedouins as he does after more than 20 years of close association with them, he realized the consequences if they were not halted before the reign of terror began. In the interests of humanity, he gave of his knowledge and experience to prevent the invasion, not only to save Jews and Christians, but also to save the Bedouins from themselves.

After Mr. Raswan had been captured by the Arab rebels, the report was circulated by metropolitan newspapers and radio news broadcasts in this country that he was lost in the Arabian desert and had probably been assassinated by revolting Bedouins.

Mr. Raswan was also able to get the black list of the men the Arabs had marked for assassination.

The British acknowledged that Raswan had prevented the Arab invasion and consequent bloodshed.

Supervisors Approve Mountain Road

On Monday morning, the county board of supervisors adopted the original Fulmor survey for the Banning-Idyllwild road, with only one dissenting vote, that of Supervisor Talbot of Perris.

At the same time the board requested the Federal Bureau of Roads to make this a federal highway, which, if granted, will put the new highway in line for Federal Aid. Bureau officials have declared the road is of the type that the federal government is willing to improve. The new road with the Palms-to-Pines road will form a loop around Palm Springs.

The Forest service will undoubtedly assist in its construction.

Adoption of the Fulmor survey culminates a controversy of several years, during which time large delegations from Banning, Beaumont and other points have attended supervisors' meetings in an effort to induce the board to build the road as outlined.

Supervisor Dillon made the motion, which was seconded by Supervisor Stanfield, and Supervisors Walter Pittman and W. C. Moore voted favorably.

Sunday Supervisor Walter Pittman of Riverside, who succeeds the late Supervisor Jack McGregor, made a trip over the old Banning-Idyllwild road. He was so thoroughly impressed that he voted for the measure.

The prison camp will undoubtedly be moved nearer the scene of operations, in order to obviate the long transportation to and from the present camp.

Action of the supervisors is a distinct victory for Supervisor Dillon, who has long been active in the matter.

The Desert Sun makes its first appearance today with a new heading and new style of head lines. How do you like it? The mast-head was sketched by Mrs. Hellen Cook Miller, well-known Palm Springs artist. She included the Old English lettering, which has been used by this newspaper since its first edition more than ten years ago, adding a touch of desert and mountains, with the Desert Sun rising over the horizon. Mrs. Miller has produced some of the finest creative art work in Palm Springs, including the maps in the Palm Springs booklet issued by Don Admiral, as well as sketches of a number of hotels and apartment houses for reproduction in folders. However, the heading on this newspaper will probably outlive all others of Mrs. Miller's sketches, for newspapers continue long after their founders and the original printing plants have gone the way of all things mortal. Undoubtedly the same heading appearing at the top of this newspaper will still be used after those who produced today's issue have been replaced by a younger generation.

A friend asked me this week, "Why don't you write a humorous column?" Well, Herbert Hoover recently developed a humorous vein, but it didn't win as many votes as he got when he wasn't so funny.

Within a few months Palm Springs will no longer be a village, if the sentiment expressed at last night's mass meeting is any indication of what will happen at the incorporation election about three months hence. The community has grown so rapidly and consequently has so many problems that it has become an endless task for the few who have been looking after community interests to travel 120 miles, to and from the present seat of government, every time some local matter needs governmental attention.

Every part of the entire area of 15 sections was probably represented at last night's meeting, when probably more than 300 were present, but none of them opposed incorporation. Probably the election will carry by a large majority.

Now, any of you public-spirited citizens who like to neglect your own business and work long hours for nothing, here's your chance to serve on the first city council. A complete set of city ordinances to cover every regulation that the citizens or the council may desire, will have to be enacted, and to sit through two or three readings of each of these is usually too much for a newspaper reporter who is supposed to sit in (Continued On Last Page)

Thoughts on Things

Harvey Johnson

Madame Schumann-Heink is dead. Her golden voice is stilled. The glorious melody that thrilled the hearts of millions is silent in the tomb. Perhaps somewhere, away up yonder, her spirit is singing today.

The Madame was a world-renowned singer. She was moreover, a real mother. She was intensely human, and so it must have pulled at her heart-strings in the dark days of the World War to know that two of her sons were fighting on opposite sides in the conflict. One fought for America, the other bore arms for Germany. Both were killed in action. All the plaudits and encores for the golden voice must have been dimmed by such a tragedy.

The Ontario city council decided to pass an ordinance to prohibit women from wearing slacks. When some of the nicest ladies in town remonstrated, the city fathers rescinded the order. If the men don't like the idea of women wearing slacks why don't they clothe themselves in dresses? They have a perfect right to do so, and maybe they wouldn't be arrested.

President Roosevelt goes to South America on business and pleasure combined. He shows good common sense in getting away from a nerve-racking job, once in awhile. Meanwhile, the employees are running the government.

Compliments to the county supervisors for laying plans for federal aid for Banning-Idyllwild road construction. Supervisor Pittman, the new member, went over the route and went into action for the plan, with three other members of the board.

Petrified Log in Ancient Sea Bed Holds Mystery

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fink visited the section between Julian, San Diego county, and Plaster City, Imperial county, Tuesday, and decided to do a little exploring. The locality which they visited is the bed of a prehistoric sea. They located a clay hill and there found a small, hollow, petrified log, or limb of a tree which may have once been mesquite or desert willow. They went still further into the mystery of the discovery and found the hollow limb filled with petrified nuts and bits of wood of various sizes. Some of the nuts appeared like hazelnuts and a few were the shape of pinon pine nuts. The location was the old Butterfield trail, made famous in California by the old horse-drawn stage coach before the advent of railroads here. Quantities of oyster shells were found—mute evidence of the time of long ago when the land was covered by a sea.

Presence of the petrified nuts in the tree hollow is a riddle that may be solved by some scientific mind. Could squirrels have carried those nuts to the hollow tree after the sea had evaporated? Or, were they placed there by human hands—the Indians who came here many centuries ago?

The Finks reside at Banning.

Edward J. Flynn of New York, important figure in New York and national politics, is spending a few days in Palm Springs, resting up from the political campaign. Flynn went from New York to Tucson, Arizona, where he was a guest of Teddy Hayes. Hayes drove him from there to Los Angeles and then to Palm Springs where the pair are at present guests at the Colonial House. They expect to leave this week-end.

Miss Constance Deighton Simpson of Los Angeles arrived here Friday to be a guest for several days of Mrs. Molly McAdoo at "The Willows."

Women's Clubs Hold 3-Day Meet Here

Three hundred delegates and guests of the California Federation of Woman's Clubs, southern district in convention at the Desert Inn during the past three days, have divided their time between social engagements and business sessions featuring the three-day annual meeting.

Thursday's Program

The general welfare clinic, begun at the Wednesday afternoon session, continued during the morning and afternoon sessions on Thursday with leisure and recreation. Social security, and national resources, the subjects for discussion.

George Hjelte of the recreation and playground department of the city of Los Angeles advocated wholesome recreation under competent leadership to keep young people away from the liquor houses and places where they can gamble. It is economically better to pay for wholesome activity than for crime, he said.

Mrs. Florence Turner, state director of social welfare estimated that by January 1, 1937, her department will have received 100,000 applications for social security aid for the aged; 50,000 from children wanting state aid; and 7,000 from blind persons in the state. These and the rising tax rates in the various counties present a problem difficult to solve.

The gradual disappearance of natural resources in the state of California was impressed on his audience by L. Deming Tilton, who represented the National resources board and is a consultant of the state planning board. Our timber is being cut about five times as fast as it is being replaced he said, and in some instances can never be grown again as in some sections where the redwoods have been cut. Our mineral wealth is largely disappeared and it is now necessary to build debris dams with tax money to make mining in some sections profitable and there is evidence that in some sections the water is becoming more alkaline from being used and then pumped again two or three times. He advocated a plan of sustained yield, orderly economic development of the state and a program of education.

A beautifully worded message from the president, Mrs. John Stewart, completed the convention. She urged the club women to build well for those who are to follow and for the betterment of humanity.

Wednesday's Sessions

Addressing the delegates during the Wednesday morning session, Dr. Wm. H. Burton of U.S.C. spoke on "New Materials for Citizenship Training." He pointed out that education of youth in the United States is moving toward a more practical goal by emphasizing vocational studies and social and political economics. Speaker in the afternoon session was Dr. Glen Carlson, sociology professor at Redlands university and vice-chairman of the California Federation News. His talk dealt with the astounding growth of cooperative movements in the United States, its meaning and consequences.

Dr. Burton was introduced as a leader of a panel discussion by Mrs. Mark Jones of Los Angeles, chairman of education of California Parents and Teachers. Others taking part in the discussion were Mrs. Albert Launer of La Habra, Mrs. Agnes McEuen of Hemet, Mrs. Fred Dixon of Norco, Mrs. Frederick Ward of Riverside and Mrs. Winifred Hunt of Hemet.

Reports of district officers included Mrs. E. W. Shirk of Redlands, juniors; Mrs. Florence E. Schisler of Indio, chairman of press and publicity; Mrs. Earl Porter, of Riverside, radio; Mrs. H. L. Hildreth, history and landmarks chairman. A clever little skit was given by Mrs. Frank Rospaw, editor of Federation News, and Mrs. Albert Launer, field representative for the Federation News. Cordelia Story Hutchinson, soprano, accompanied at the piano by Loren Adair, delighted with a group of Mozart and Beethoven songs in a charming costume of that period.

The Wednesday afternoon session was given over to a discussion of general welfare subjects including the American home, community contacts, law, business and insurance, arts and crafts, and industrial interests under the leadership of Mrs. David Fraser of San Diego, state chairman of the American home. Among those participating were Mrs. Thomas Workman, Mrs. Marie Deihl, Mrs. A. McLachlan, Mrs. E. Stewart, Mrs. H. E. Richards, Mrs. H. L. Glasby, Mrs. E. C. Cheel.

A four o'clock tea was served on the lounging deck of the Palm Springs Plaza, by Robert Ranson and Miss Norma Richardson, who also presented an interesting and colorful fashion show.

Tuesday's Sessions

Nomination of officers to serve the district, during the next two years, was a feature of the opening day's sessions of the convention Tuesday.

Mrs. David A. Fraser of San Diego, who is now state chairman of the American home, was nominated for the office of district president. Others placed in nomination were Mrs. George Foster of San Bernardino, vice-president; Mrs. C. M. Deakins, treasurer, and Miss Ida P. Fenton of Riverside, auditor. Election took place Thursday.

Among the notables in attendance at the convention, are Mrs. W. D. James of Hanford, state president; Miss Josephine Seaman of La Jolla, junior past state president; Mrs. Benjamin Warner of Ontario, junior past president of the district; Mrs. Grace Y. Hudson of Los Angeles, state chairman of community contacts; Mrs. John S. Robinson, state chairman of juniors; Dr. Mariana Bertola of San Francisco, beloved past state president; Mrs. Harold B. Ryer of San Francisco, Mrs. A. E. Coolett of Sacramento, Mrs. W. T. Cairns of Lindsay and Mrs. Mark Jones of Los Angeles.

Mrs. John Stewart of Hemet, district president, opened the convention at 1:30 in the new community church where gorgeous fall flowers had been arranged by the district hostess clubs, Banning, Indio and Woman's club of Coachella Valley.

Mrs. Emerson Holt of Riverside, county president and head of the convention hostess group, presided over the president's dinner at the Desert Inn in the evening.

Mr. Kenneth Scudder of Los Angeles, speaking on coordinating councils, was a highlight of the afternoon program. Miss Seaman gave an excellent review of the book, "Rich Lands, Poor Lands." "Building for Constructive Living" is the convention theme.

A welcome to Palm Springs was given by Frank Bennett, while Mrs. Nellie Coffman of the Desert Inn welcomed the delegates to her famous hostelry. Mrs. George H. Bunnell of Redlands responded for the visitors.

Mrs. H. M. Sammis of San Diego, district music chairman, is leading community singing throughout the convention, for which Mrs. S. F. Egnew of Coachella is pianist.

With Mrs. George H. Schisler of Indio, district press chairman, are Crete Cagle of the Los Angeles Times, Mrs. Robert P. Holmes of Hermosa Beach, correspondent for 39 papers; Mrs. Clara Noble, for Riverside county; Mrs. W. H. Lorenz, for Imperial county, and Mrs. Frank Rospaw, editor of the California Federation News, official publication of the state federation.

More than 200 delegates were present to represent clubs in San Diego, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange and Imperial counties.

Three Accident Cases at Reid Hospital

Three accident cases were brought into the Dr. Reid Hospital and Clinic this week.

On Thursday, Nov. 12, Clark Kelly was treated for a fractured right knee cap and minor scratches and abrasions. Henry Mathews was treated for a severe scalp wound and numerous scratches and cuts on the face. On Sunday, Nov. 15th Miss Peggy Hutton and Victor Leroy Rusk were rushed to the hospital after the car in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole while trying to avoid an oncoming car driven by Thos. Veaman of Redlands. Miss Hutton was suffering with a broken arm and possible skull fracture. Her driving companion escaped uninjured, but she was later taken to the Riverside hospital.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY AT REID CLINIC

Occupational therapy is the latest addition to the advantages offered at the Dr. Reid Clinic and Hospital. The work is in charge of Mrs. J. O. Mall, who will conduct morning, afternoon and evening classes with individual instruction for those who care to take advantage of it. The different types of work offered are leather tooling, modeling raffia and serpentine paper work, loom and metal craft.

Classes are now being formed and those interested in joining are cordially invited.

Burglar Takes $200 From Till

A burglar entered the Franciscan shop between 10 and 11:30 Saturday night and took $200 in currency and silver from the cash drawer.

Checks were not bothered nor were any of the shop's pottery pieces.

Police were called immediately and footprints in the yard in back showed where the burglar apparently had entered the yard via the tall fence. The shop was entered through a rear door which had been left unhooked.

Chief of Police Boller and his men immediately utilized the department's new fingerprint equipment to take prints at the scene of operation.

Woman Injured, Man Jailed, Auto Wreck

Mrs. Peggy Rusk was critically injured and her husband jailed on a charge of drunkenness as the result of an automobile accident two miles north of town Sunday afternoon.

The couple were traveling north in a high-powered roadster belonging to a friend. After passing another automobile on a curve the woman tried to pull back into the road but apparently lost control. The car careened off the highway into the sand, struck a telephone pole with such force that the pole was clipped cleanly at its base and set down again upright in the sand. The automobile then plunged ahead, turning over several times. Its occupants meanwhile were hurled out and later rushed by passing motorists to the Reid Clinic and Hospital.

Mrs. Rusk, driver of the automobile, was given emergency treatment by Doctors W. W. Mall and P. A. Staley at the hospital for a severe fracture of the upper left arm, a basal fracture of the skull, numerous deep laceration and abrasions and possible internal injuries. She was later taken to the Riverside county hospital.

Her husband, Victor Rusk, after treatment for minor cuts and bruises at the local hospital, was booked by State Traffic Officer Paul Decker on the intoxication charge after a physician had pronounced him inebriated, Decker said.

It is reported Mrs. Rusk will be charged with reckless driving.

Suffering from a strained foot and ankle, received when she twisted her foot while walking, Miss Marjorie Forline was treated by Dr. James B. Oliver Saturday night.

De Witt Gorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Frankenburger, is seriously ill at his home here. Mr. Gorman was operated on for appendicitis in Los Angeles this summer and has been improving in health until his recent attack. He is under the care of Dr. James B. Oliver.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP GROWS

The World War and its horrible aftermath was the cause of a tremendous "backslide" of humanity in matters spiritual. Human souls sailed the sea of life in ships that were without anchor.

In spite of the catastrophe which came to most of the people of the world, church membership is growing.

According to the Christian Herald, church membership in the United States gained 670,801 during the past year. This is within 61 thousand of the total estimated gain in population for the same period. The publication's survey shows an average annual membership gain during the past nine years of 1.66 per cent, as compared with an average annual population gain of 1 per cent, which, it is pointed out, refutes the statement often made that the church is declining.

An inquiry into the relative statistics of church membership and population will show that this tendency of the one to close up on the other has been going on for a long time. Forty years ago church membership was a little more than 40 per cent of the population. On the basis of the present estimates it is more than 48 per cent of the total.

A part, perhaps, of this relative gain may be accounted for by the declining birth rate. This has resulted in a greater proportionate number of adults in the whole population from which new church membership is largely recruited. It is not until adolescence that church membership enrollment begins. But this can hardly suffice for more than a partial explanation.

AT THE STEERING WHEEL

There is a certain amount of danger in motor-ing in any and all kinds of weather, as vital statistics sadly prove. The danger is doubled in wet weather and during the days and nights of stiff electrical winds. Wet pavement and poor vision go together in a storm. Nervous strain comes with the desert winds.

SMALL TOWN GIRL

A European prince, being interviewed in the United States, could not, of course, hope to escape being asked his opinion of American girls. And a European prince of course, would never be other than tactful. Prince Arthur Gilbaut of Belgium is no exception.

Prince Arthur is quoted in a Washington newspaper as saying after four weeks in the United States that he is impressed with the beauty of the American girls he has seen. "But," he significantly adds, "the prettiest American girls are in the small towns, I have noticed. Their beauty is fresher and more natural than that of the girls in the big cities."

Here is balm for the young lady who perhaps has envied the sleekly polished nails, the sophisticated lips and eyebrows and the meticulously plastered coiffure of her cousin who went to New York. If after all a prince's eyes are sufficiently discerning to—Well, no need to day-dream Cinderella stories; for there's something too to be said for the small town boy. He's often a prince of a fellow.—Christian Science Monitor.

MORE PEOPLE WORKING

Commerce Department experts reported at Washington that unofficial check-ups indicate there are now fewer than 9,000,000 unemployed in the country.

They said the number of those out of work has been falling off steadily this year and was slightly less than 9,000,000 at the end of September.

This compares with their estimates of 11,000,000 for January and 9,550,000 in August.

A VERY TINY PLACE?

All great big men have great big hearts
Just filled to overflowin'
With memories of days by by—
And gals they've been a-knowin'.

I'll bet that yours is 'bout to bust,
So much you can recall
Of blondes, brunettes, and redheads, too—
All sizes, large and small;

But won't you cram them in real tight,
Instead of far apart,
And make a very tiny place,
For me, in your big heart?

—Lyla Myers.

Economic Highlights

As this column has pointed out before, many of the great issues of 1936 were basically unaffected by the outcome of the election, and will be among the great issues of 1937 and succeeding years. One of those issues is provided by the social security bill passed by the last Congress. That bill came in for a great deal of discussion in the closing week of the late campaign, with Republican spokesmen denouncing it in almost every particular, and the Democrats defending it.

It is very possible that no piece of major legislation enacted by the last Congress is more widely misunderstood than this bill. It is certain that proposals to amend the bill will appear in the next Congress and will have the support of many members of both parties. A number of unprejudiced observers, though they may endorse the principle of the bill and its general purposes, feel that it was hastily drawn, is unworkable in some phases, contains a number of dangerous

Briefly, the social security act, as now in effect, works as follows:

During the present year, every employer in the land employing eight or more people has been subject to a tax equal to one per cent of his total payroll. This tax will be due and payable on January 1, 1937. Purpose of the tax is to provide money for state unemployment insurance funds. The federal government will return 90 per cent of all money collected under this tax to the states providing it, where these states have unemployment insurance funds. If they lack such funds, the Federal government will keep the money and administer the job itself.

This tax will be increased by one per cent next year, and another one per cent in 1938, reaching a maximum of 3 per cent of all payrolls, to be paid entirely by employers.

That is one phase of the social security act—the employment phase. The other phases have to do with old age insurance.

The tax for this starts on January first, and will amount to 2 per cent of all payrolls. Half of this will be paid by employers, and the other half by employees. (Maximum taxable income of an individual is $50 per week.) This tax will rise slowly, and reach a top of 6 per cent in 1949, 3 per cent of which will be paid by employers and 3 per cent by workers. All of this money will be retained by the Federal government, and will be used to retire workers at the age of 65.

Thus, when the maximum is reached, the social security tax will total 9 per cent on all payrolls, with certain exceptions such as agricultural and domestic labor.

It is obvious that the tax will bring in vast sums of money. Estimates say that in 1937—when the total tax will be 4 per cent of payrolls—revenues will exceed $1,000,000,000. Yield for the following year will be close to $1,400,000,000. And when the top figure is reached, it is anticipated that $3,000,000,000 a year will flow in.

And here is where one of the jokers appears. Estimates say that old age insurance reserves—which must under the law, be retained by the Federal government and invested in Government bonds—will reach $47,000,000,000 by 1980. Today our Federal debt is at an all-time high of $34,000,000,000. This debt, as the U. S. News pointed out, must be inflated by another $13,000,000,000 by 1980 just to provide enough bonds for the investment of old age security money, entirely dismissing other holdings of government bonds.

Worst joker of all, according to some commentators, is that, under the law, Congress could legally appropriate this old age security money for other purposes. In other words, it is morally but not legally bound to use the funds for the pensioning of the elderly. An irresponsible Congress, convening say, in 1960, could spend the savings piled up and the worker who had been contributing, in company with his employer, part of his earnings for a generation to assure a financially independent old age, would be out of luck.

Still another joker, say some, is that if the sums involved were put into policies providing pensions on the same scale as those provided by the annuities sold by private insurance companies, the individual would get much more when he reached 65. This has been disputed by others, and the whole matter has been so befogged by argument and contradictory statistics that no one really knows what the exact truth is.

This discussion of the social security law could be continued for pages, but it is not intended to be exhaustive—a book would be necessary if that were the aim. It seems certain that you will hear much debate concerning

YOUNG WOMAN MEETS DEATH IN ACCIDENT EAST OF WHITEWATER

En route to 29 Palms on a pleasure trip. Crash and death. That was the fate of Miss Elizabeth Waite of Moreno Valley, two miles east of Whitewater Tuesday afternoon. Miss Waite, member of a prominent family in Moreno, was 23 years of age.

The young woman, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Waite, of Moreno, was crushed between a boulder and the wreckage of the machine. The driver, Miss Gertrude Patty, who resides with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Mantonya, 4450 Edgewood Place, Riverside, escaped with slight injuries.

State Highway Officer Gene Henderson, of Banning, investigated the crash. Constable Joe Toutain, of San Geronimo township, after examination of the wreckage, expressed the belief that the car had been traveling at a nominal rate of speed when it went out of control. The machine apparently had overturned once before coming to rest against the boulder.

According to Mr. Mantonya, Miss Patty had purchased the coupe on the fatal day, and with Miss Waite had started for 29 Palms.

Coroner Ben F. White and Capt. J. Raymond King, of the highway patrol, came to Banning for investigation.

CEREAL VARIETY AND FERTILIZER TESTS PLANTED ON H. L. ROBERTS RANCH

The Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with Mr. H. L. Roberts of Beaumont is again conducting an elaborate cereal variety and fertilizer test plot, stated N. L. McFarlane, assistant farm advisor for Riverside county, this week.

The tests are planted on land located on the west side of Beaumont avenue about 1½ miles north of the state highway, and local grain growers are invited to follow their progress.

The cereals being tested for yields under Pass country conditions are Ramona, Onas, Escondido, White Federation, Bunyip, Baart, Poso and Sonora wheats, and Club Mariout, California Coast, Atlas, Vaughn and Blanco barleys.

While the Agricultural Extension Service has conducted similar variety tests in past years, at one time on the Harry Phillips ranch, it was thought desirable to repeat them since additional promising varieties were available.

Grain growers have often wondered whether it would pay to fertilize grains. In the northwestern states and Canadian provinces fertilizers have been used profitably. Now the Agricultural Extension Service proposes to find out if they will pay in Riverside county's dry farming areas.

Fertilizers to be tested are ammonium phosphate, triple superphosphate, and ammonium sulphate. These materials will be applied in small and large amounts to determine the quantity that will give the best results. Mr. McFarlane stated that a meeting will be held in the spring at the plots so that growers could see the results first hand.

SAFETY ON THE AQUEDUCT
(By T. W. Osgood, Safety Engineer)

The Aqueduct News of October 10, 1936, announced that the "big push" on open work construction on the main aqueduct was under way again after a four months' suspension of work because of the intense summer heat, and that approximately 1000 to 1500 men will be required for the various phases of this work, in addition to the 7400 persons already employed on the aqueduct.

The resumption of activities on the main aqueduct open work has occasioned the employment of a large number of new men, many of whom have had little or no experience in this kind of work.

It is recognized in any industry that the new man is an accident hazard because he is unfamiliar with his environment and is not cognizant of the hazards of his new employment.

An analysis of recent records for certain units of the aqueduct work indicates that about 43% of all injuries were among men who have been employed on those jobs for less than three months, and that approximately 20% of all injuries were sustained by men during their first month of employment on that work. The above emphasizes the point that the new men need help, such that will save them from injury.

The giving of that help is the direct responsibility of the superintendents, foremen, walkers, shifters and the experienced workmen, all of whom must cooperate if the best results are to be realized. To tell these new men "to be safe" would be of slight avail. They must be told "how to be safe," and how to perform their work in the right way. The effectiveness of these efforts will be indicated by the accident records and by the amount of productive work accomplished by these new men.

Community Church News Notes

The Hammond electric organ which is being considered for permanent installation, will be heard on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

This instrument was heard on last Wednesday in recital at the hands of Joseph Wayne. Many favorable comments were made by the pleased auditors. Assisting Mr. Wayne with vocal numbers were Mrs. Violet Fowler and Miss Helen L. Warren.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in connection with the morning worship Sunday. All Christian people of Palm Springs, regardless of their home church affiliation are invited. This is a Community Church.

At the young people's hour, 6:45 p. m., moving pictures portraying Spain and Granada in peaceful and beautiful days.

These educational films are obtained from the National Film Exchange of Los Angeles, and the University of California at Berkeley.

The growing choir now has enrolled the following persons.

Lillian Miller, Helen Reagan, Edith Walsh, Helen L. Warren, Ruth Williams, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Silliasen, Virginia Walton, Vincent Savory, Binney Morris, Mr. Simonsen, Mr. Kjellmyr, Frank Honeycutt, Charles A. Mayo, Mrs. Ellis S. Gottheuett, director; Mrs. Violet Fowler, pianist.

Thanksgiving services at ten o'clock Thursday. It is surely fitting that Palm Springs people and guests should assemble to return thanks to Almighty God for all His many blessings to us as individuals and a nation.

A Bible class is announced Friday afternoons at 3 o'clock for the study of current events in the Light of Prophecy. The Book of Daniel will be the basis of these studies.

All are cordially invited.

Mrs. Macartney will be at home for the ladies of Palm Springs Friday at four o'clock.

"SHORTY" KNUPP RECOVERS FROM AUTO ACCIDENT

C. V. (Shorty) Knupp, who was injured last Thursday in an automobile wreck at the junction of Palm Canyon Drive and Indian avenue, has practically recovered from the accident, with the exception of cuts on his face. Investigation has disclosed that he was in no way responsible for the accident. He had stopped behind another car at the boulevard stop, when his car was struck by a third car with such force that the two standing cars were pushed a considerable distance, and the heavy frame of Mr. Knupp's Dodge truck was sprung badly.

ROYAL PALMS CAFE OPENS WITH NOTED CHEF; UNIQUE PATIO TO BE READY SOON

The Royal Palms Coffee Shop, located in Royal Palms Hotel, formerly the Central Hotel Annex, opened this morning. The new coffee shop, which has been under construction during the past two months, is a place of beauty, and is unique and modern in every respect. Jack Moore, the proprietor, operates the White Cap Coffee Shop at Catalina.

Mr. Moore brought with him his famous chef, Boris Lensky, who was chef of the Grand Moscow Inn which was patronized regularly by the Russian Czar, members of the royal family and Russian nobility in general. More recently he was chef of the Roosevelt Hotel in Los Angeles.

The Royal Palms Cafe will soon open its patio cafe and cocktail lounge in the patio adjoining the Royal Palms swimming pool. This will be a most delightful place in the rear of the new cafe.

The Royal Palms features kosher style foods, and no liquor is served in the Coffee Shop.

SANTA ANA RIVER CROSSING 60% COMPLETED

One of the unique features on the construction of the Colorado River aqueduct is the building of a bridge to carry 500 million gallons of water a day across the Santa Ana River channel. Located on the upper feeder of the distributing system, a few miles west of Riverside, the river bed crossing structure is 894 feet long. It will carry a large welded steel pipe line having a capacity of 750 cubic feet of water per second—one half the capacity of the main aqueduct.

The central part of the structure is a steel bridge 544 feet in length and resting on concrete piers. In addition to this, the big steel water conduit will be supported above the river bed by other piers placed on both sides of the main channel. The bridge will be 17 feet above the highest flood water level of the river, and is at an elevation of 710 feet above sea level. Work on the structure is about 60 per cent completed at the present time.

The pipe line crossing this bridge consists of a ten-mile section of welded steel pipe, totaling approximately 30,000 tons of steel.

OBSERVATION ON PLANT LIFE OF THE DESERT

(Randall Henderson in Calexico Chronicle)

I am indebted to Don Admiral, naturalist and lecturer at Palm Springs, for a copy of a well written little booklet which he has just published for the purpose of supplying a rudimentary knowledge of the plant and animal life and geology of the desert—for those who are interested.

The book is written especially for the visitors who come to Palm Springs each winter, but I daresay that not one in a hundred of those who have permanent homes in the desert region of the Southwest has even an elementary knowledge of the country in which he lives.

For instance, I wonder how many persons can name and identify the seven trees which are native of this area. Admiral lists them as Palo Verde, Smoke Tree, Screwbean mesquite, Honey mesquite, Washington Palm, Ironwood and Desert willow. The Mojave desert to the north has one additional, the Joshua tree.

Practically all of the cacti to be seen along the trails in this region are one of six species. There is no need to bother with the Latin names—they all have common names which are easily remembered. They are the Barrel, called Bisnaga by Mexicans; Bigelow's cholla—that is the vicious variety; Deerhorn, sometimes confused with cholla; Beavertail, Fishhook and Engelmann's cactus which is often called Hedgehog. Ocotillo, as most desert folks already know, is not a cactus.

An elementary knowledge of the trees and shrubs which grow in the desert much more interesting. After you learn the names you become interested in the odd habits of some of these species. For instance, the Ocotillo puts on leaves only after rains have supplied it with a liberal amount of moisture. This may be two or three times in a single year, or not at all for a long period.

In the picturesque little meadow which lies along the south side of the new Calexico desert highway south of Coyote Wells is to be found a species of shrub seldom seen on the Colorado desert.

This is the Holocantha Emoryi—but you do not have to remember that name. It is commonly called Crucifixion Thorn and according to desert legend is the same plant from which Christ's crown of thorns was made. The scientists doubt this story, but there is no denying that it is a thorny bush.

And now please do not rush out there and start tearing down the trees for souvenirs. There are only a few of them there, and they are a unique scenic attraction which should be preserved. There are few places where soil and moisture conditions are exactly right for this shrub—and this little desert meadow happens to be one of them.

Community Christmas Tree

A group of townspeople met with Mrs. C. S. Henderson, Sunshine Court, to discuss whether the community Christmas tree should be continued or not. Some felt that the fast growing community made it too great a task and that much duplication of effort was evidenced. Others felt that the Santa Claus parade and Christmas tree was a red letter day in Palm Springs and should not be dropped. Those asked to enter into the discussion included Dr. John Robertson McCartney, Father Lehane, Mrs. Nellie N. Coffman, Mrs. Alvah Hicks, Rev. B. B. Weatherall, Miss Katherine Finchy, Miss Monica Finn, Frank Shannon, Frank Bennett, Francis Crocker, Charles Bosworth, Gordon Nicholson, Mrs. Carl G. Lykken, Mrs. H. L. Hansen, Mrs. Phillip Boyd, and Mrs. O'Beare.

The majority ruled to continue the community Christmas tree to be financed by the community as a whole, both churches to lend their aid, and in addition asked for donations.

Thomas O'Donnell has loaned his Desert golf course for the final journey's end of Santa from the airport to the tree, where stockings will be distributed. A program at the tree will precede Santa's arrival. A parade bigger, better and more colorful, is being arranged by Mrs. O'Beare of the McDonald's Stables.

WOOD-CARVING INSTRUCTION IS OFFERED BY SIMMS

Harry Simms, master craftsman of Taos, New Mexico, has made the fact known that he has arranged time to instruct a limited number in the art of wood-carving.

"It is human nature to appreciate much more the things we do with our own hands, rather than the things that can be bought in just any store, because things that we design and produce ourselves just can't be bought," said Mr. Simms.

"It is quite surprising to find that one can do just about anything he wants to do, provided he goes about in the right manner, using the proper tools and knowing just why he is doing it. Another thing interesting to know about is wood, different kinds of wood, where it grows and how our very existence depends upon it.

The Simms-Craft Studios, located on South Palm Canyon Drive, is a most interesting place to visit, what appears to be an ordinary tent on the outside, on the inside, miraculously transformed into a beautiful display of hand-carved furniture. Such as a pair of twin beds that have a feeling of soft velvet that make one want to retire on the spot, and a chest of drawers that is made to hold things and lots of them. These and many other things Mr. Simms will teach his students to make for themselves.

Shanghai Clubman Visitor Here

L. W. Reese of Shanghai, China, was in Palm Springs this week while on a tour of the country to obtain talent for the Paramount Ballroom in Shanghai. He stated he was seeking musicians, singers, and other entertainers of exceptional ability, and that there are good opportunities for genuine artists of that type in the Chinese metropolis.

Mr. Reese was interviewed at the home of Mrs. Roland Swaffield, where he was a guest. He stated that he went to Shanghai in January, 1933, and has been at the American Club there ever since.

Among the week-end guests at Tahquitz Vista were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kinsey of Beverly Hills, Los Angeles real estate broker; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Davis and daughter Dorothea, Mrs. A. H. Rosecrants of Los Angeles, largest individual realty owner of 29 Palms; Mr. and Mrs. R. Mayo of Los Angeles, Judge and Mrs. C. Kelley of Beverly Glen, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kelley of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ripley of Denver, Colorado. Here to spend several weeks are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Neel of Los Angeles.

Publisher From Holland Is Visitor

Albert G. Sijthoff, whose family published six important daily newspapers of Holland, was a guest this week at the home of Mrs. Roland Swaffield.

Mr. Sijthoff, only 24 years old, is a young man of remarkable ability, having keen knowledge of journalism and speaking seven languages, having received his newspaper training in three foreign countries.

His great-great grandfather established the first of the chain of newspapers now operated by his father and four sons. Following the European custom of thoroughness, young Mr. Sijthoff was first sent to Switzerland for a two-year course in journalism, after completing his elementary instruction in Holland. Then followed two years in Germany, most of which was spent at the school of journalism at Leipsig. He then went to England for two years of instruction.

While in England he met Mr. and Mrs. Swaffield and their two charming daughters, who were touring Europe at the time. Consequently, when he came to the west coast of America, he learned that the Swaffields were in Palm Springs, and came here for a short visit.

The young journalist is in this country for two years of training, and to study American newspapers. He studies every branch of publishing, including the mechanical department, news and editorial writing, and advertising.

When asked by The Desert Sun reporter what he thought of American newspapers, he stated that the newspapers of his country never resort to personal attacks but confine themselves to issues. He was horrified over the attacks upon candidates during the recent political campaign. "I can't understand why newspapers should make such charges against your chief executive and other candidates, who must be honorable men to hold such high office," he stated. The reporter replied, "I can't understand it any more than you can, and most of us do not approve of such methods."

The young Dutch publisher stated there is little danger of Communism or Fascism in Holland. Regarding Hitler, he said Der Fuehrer is probably the right man for Germany and the man the Germans want and need.

The newspapers published by the elder Sijthoff and his four sons are the Haagsche Courant, a daily about the size of the Los Angeles Times and a copy of which he presented to The Desert Sun; the Avend Post, Dagblad van Zuid, Nieuwsbron, Delftsche Courant, and Westlandsch Dagblad, all dailies.

The young publisher was favorably impressed with Palm Springs, and expressed his desire to return here.

Dr. and Mrs. John Robertson Macartney will leave immediately after the Thanksgiving service at the Community church, to spend Thanksgiving day with his brother, Rev. Ernest L. McCartney at Upland, California, where also will be assembled a large number of the Macartney family.

Members of the Palm Springs Realty Board are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the realtors of the 14th district California Real Estate Board, who will hold their convention here on Friday, December 4.

Activities will begin at 9 a. m. with golf at the Desert Inn Golf Course and swimming at the El Mirador pool.

At 11 a. m. there will be a meeting in the El Mirador lounge, at which the principal speaker will be Mortimer Clark, real estate commissioner of the state of California. Roy Brown, vice-president of the state association, will have charge of this meeting, and Glenn Willaman will report on the national convention held at New Orleans. It is hoped to have present at this meeting, Charles Shattuck of South Pasadena, state president, and Frank Whitelock of San Bernardino, vice-president-elect.

Following lunch and speeches at El Mirador from 12:30 to 2, the visiting realtors will tour Palm Springs and interesting spots on the desert, returning at 3:30 for tea dansant at El Mirador. The day will be completed

CHRYSLER ROYAL CHRYSLER IMPERIAL CHRYSLER AIRFLOW

...AN ENTIRELY NEW CHRYSLER INVADERS LOW-PRICED FIELD

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR THE GREATEST OF THE EIGHTS!

AMERICA'S MOST MODERN MOTOR CAR!

CHRYSLER invades the low-priced field!

A brand-new Chrysler Royal! A low-priced fine car... new style from bumper to bumper!... a big, roomy car!... a power-packed economy car!

Chrysler engineers have created an amazing new engine... the Gold Seal... 93 horsepower... with the highest compression for its bore the world has yet seen.

Then... new car style... new roominess... new riding ease... all at a new low price.

GOLD SEAL PRINCIPLE GIVES NEW POWER WITH ECONOMY

Gold Seal—Chrysler's new economy engine—is dynamite under complete and velvety control... new larger exhaust valves of Austenitic steel... uses ordinary gasoline. Gold Seal gives three or four more miles per gallon than many cars of much less horsepower.

With Automatic Overdrive† it gives even greater economy at touring speeds.

WORLDS OF ROOM!

Chrysler Royal is lithe, sleek, dashing... a wonder for room... 43 3/4 inches wide at the windshield... 53 inches at the center pillars... 54 3/4 inches at rear pillars... worlds of leg room, head room, elbow room... spacious, level tonneau floors.

Amazing new Aero Hydraulic Shock Absorbers... built like the landing mechanism of an airplane. They combine with Airflow weight distribution and Amola steel springs to give such a ride as no other low-priced car ever gave before.

Positively regal trim! Superb upholstery and appointments!

Every famous Chrysler engineering feature... Valve-Seat Inserts... Floating Power... time-tested, genuine Hydraulic Brakes... Safety All-Steel Bodies... finger-touch, shockless steering.

NEW 1937 IMPERIAL... AND NEW 1937 AIRFLOW

In the field of luxury cars, Chrysler presents two beautiful new masterpieces. In the thousand dollar range... the big, powerful Imperial... with the comforts of length and size, the beauty of long, sweeping lines, the finest of appointments, magnificent performance from 110 horsepower.

In the 1937 Airflow... America's most modern motor car. With new beauty, new longer, lower lines, new interiors... with exclusive advantages of room, riding comfort and safety made possible by Airflow design.

SEE THE CARS

The Chrysler Royal, Imperial, and 1937 Airflows are on display at Chrysler dealer showrooms.

☆ CHRYSLER ROYAL... 93 horsepower, 199-inch over-all length. Ten body types, $715 and up. Four-Door Sedan $815.

☆ CHRYSLER IMPERIAL... 110 horsepower, 204-inch over-all length. Six body types, $925 and up. Four-Door Touring Sedan $995.

Red Cross Drive Nets $600.52

During a three-day campaign, the local Red Cross committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Milton Hicks, sold 358 memberships, collecting $600.52, of which $421.52 goes to the Friendly Aid Committee of Palm Springs, and $179.00 to the National Red Cross.

Memberships were sold at $1, $5, $10 and $25, and donations were received in varying amounts up to $1.00. The amount raised this year was more than double that of last year, and by far exceeded the quota.

The committee in charge of the membership drive was: Mrs. Milton Hicks, chairman; Mrs. Harold Hicks, Mrs. Robert Ransom, Mrs. Dorothy A. Mall, Mrs. Archie Palmer, Mrs. Philip Boyd, Mrs. Rufus Chapman, Mrs. Helen Staley, Mrs. Norma Oliver, Mrs. Francis Crocker, Mrs. Grace Hull, Mrs. John Holditch, Misses Dolly Harrison, Marjorie Forline, Virginia Beatie, Helen Murphy, Madeline Thomas.

TELEVISION COMES NEARER

The latest preview of television marks new advances in the infant science, but observers regretfully report that it is not yet ready for the public.

The images flashed on the glass screens through televised methods are still marred by considerable flickering and too little distinction of line.

These imperfections are not yet ironed out, although it is probable that they will be in the near future.

Most important is the care with which sponsors of television are proceeding.

The people will approve their desire to turn out nothing but a finished product — one that will enlighten, amuse and instruct the people and give satisfaction to all who invest in it.

Television is one so-called boon to mankind which will not be sold until it is worth selling.

For that its vast potential public gives heartfelt thanks.—Los Angeles Herald-Express.

At any rate, William Randolph is several degrees nearer a political corpse than he has ever been in his ruthless career of a generation. And that is one good thing.—Monterey Park Progress.

The Desert

States" and if we throw caution to the winds we might say the "weirdest tree on earth" but that would immediately brand one as uninformed and untraveled.

The Joshua tree is quite capable of looking after itself and out of the very unexpectedness of finding such a curious tree in the desert country, some tourist will coin a phrase that will be satisfactory to the American feeling that even a desert tree must have some striking descriptive phrase to advertise the tree and incidentally the Joshua Tree National Monument.

The scientific name of the Joshua tree is Yucca brevifolia; the genus name yucca is from the Spanish; the species name brevifolia is from the Latin and refers to the short leaf of the Joshua tree. The common name, Joshua tree was given by the old Mormons. The following quotation from Saunders tells the story. "But aside from whatever practical use it may be capable of, the tree yucca is one of the most striking features of our desert. It is so different from other trees, so defiant and upstanding in a land of monotonous subservience to sand and rocks, that I don't wonder it made an impression on the old-time Mormons in their desert wanderings, as it did. It would seem to have had a prophetic significance to some of them, for they gave it, in Southern Utah, the name of Joshua tree, as they regarded it as the symbol of a divinely appointed leader in the final stage of some pioneering expedition, bringing them, at last, into their land of Promise."

Raswan

Arab committee of Palestine, leaders of the strike and open rebellion, have expressed their approval that the secret revolt was exploded. They had advocated only open rebellion against the British and Jews, and did not approve of the methods pursued by the secret rebels, who intended to accomplish their ends by assassination and terrorism as exploded by Mr. Raswan.

Accompanying Carl Raswan to Arabia was Henry L. Corbett, Jr., of Portland, Oregon, son of the senior member of the Oregon Senate. Mr. Corbett demonstrated outstanding heroism on several occasions, and at one time saved Mr. Raswan's life.

Mr. Raswan will be here until Sunday morning, when he will depart for New York to prepare a series of lectures in the principal cities of the East and Midwest.

Attorney Reichman of Cairo, who accompanied Mr. Raswan to Palm Springs, is a prominent international lawyer, having served with the League of Nations at Geneva, Switzerland, and later being stationed at Cairo, where he became a close friend of Raswan. He hopes to remain in America.

(Continued From First Page) and listen, for pay. It isn't quite so bad for the man who can sleep in a chair, but for the poor fellow who has to be in his own bed to get any rest, it will be rather strenuous.

Incorporation

(Continued From First Page) the city. He said he would not favor incorporation unless all of the area five miles long and three miles wide were included.

Attorney Guy Pinney was asked for further light on that subject. He stated that the act under which a city is incorporated provides that boundaries must be continuous, which would apply to areas touching at corners, whereas the act providing for annexation of other areas after incorporation, says the areas to be annexed must be contiguous. He believed that so long as boundaries are continuous, the city can include Indian land. He said it may be necessary to call on Senator John Phillips to introduce an act in the state legislature to overcome slight difficulties here and that the legislature would certainly pass such an act to straighten out certain technicalities which are not quite clear.

A. K. Bourne wanted to know how much taxes Palm Springs pays to the county government, and if the county tax will continue to be the same after incorporation.

Deputy Tax Assessor Frank Shannon, who was asked to reply to that query, stated that the tax at present for county purposes is $1.40, whereas the local taxes are 37 cents for the police district, 35 cents for the fire district, 40 cents for the sanitary district, and $1.22 for high and grammar schools. He said the area in the present Desert School district has an assessed valuation of about $8,000,000.

Guy Pinney supplemented these remarks by stating that the county tax would continue for general county administration purposes, but that most of the $1.12 tax to maintain the police, fire and sanitary districts, which would probably come under city government, would simply become city taxes, without increase, unless bonds are voted and expenses increased.

Warren Pinney thought there would be no increase in taxation because there would be few more city employees than at present, and that the great increase in assessed valuation will take care of additional expenditures by distributing the cost over more taxpayers.

"We have to travel 60 miles to Riverside, and 60 miles back, every time we want something from the county board of supervisors," said Mr. Pinney. "Our problems are so many now that it is difficult to have them controlled from Riverside, 60 miles away. When our officers arrest some one, they have to leave their duties here for several hours to take the prisoner to the Banning justice of the peace. If we incorporate, we will have our own police judge, and if double parking continues, we will get enough revenue from fines to pay the additional expense of city government," said Mr. Pinney.

Harold Hicks said that Palm Springs is losing much of its charm because of lack of local control. He cited Carmel as an example of a charming city, because it is kept as the people want it through city government. Incorporation will solve the problem here, he said.

Thomas Lipps and Chairman Bennett asked if anyone present objecting to incorporation, would please express themselves. Mr. Bennett also asked if there were any objections from any one living in the outlying areas suggested to be included in the city. Not an objection was made; there-

Famous Tennis Stars at Desert Inn Sunday

The nation's leading tennis stars will meet at the Desert Inn on Sunday for an afternoon of exhibition matches. The program with which the Desert Inn opens the tennis season, is one worthy of the occasion. Manager Earl Coffman and Perry T. Jones, secretary of the California Tennis Association, have arranged the following schedule of matches:

1:30 p. m.—J. Donald Budge, first ranking singles and doubles player of the United States, vs. Jack P. Tidball, first ranking singles player of Southern California.

2:30 p. m.—Miss Alice Marble, champion women's singles player of the United States, and C. Gene Mako, champion men's doubles player of the United States (Miss Marble and Mr. Mako are also the mixed doubles champions of the United States) vs. Miss Dorothy Workman, Pacific Southwest women's doubles champion, and Henry Culley, California state men's doubles champion.

3:30 p. m.—J. Donald Budge and C. Gene Mako, champion doubles players of the United States, vs. Henry Culley, third ranking men's doubles player of the United States, and Jack Tidball, Canadian national singles and doubles champion.

Miss Marble returns in the role of the "home town girl who made good," for after two years of Palm Springs residence she reentered the competitive field to win the national women's singles and mixed doubles championships. Budge and Mako have won their way to the forefront of the world's great doubles teams, and the former is expected by many experts to step into the spot left by Fred Perry's desertion of the amateur field. Rarely is it possible to bring together so many famous stars outside of the tournament season, and the Desert Inn is to be congratulated on its fine program.

Steel House Now Being Erected

The first of the steel houses manufactured by General Houses, Inc., to come to California is now being erected in the Desert Sands tract by Edmund F. Lindop, owner of the tract and California distributor for the manufacturers.

The new steel house will be completed in three weeks and will then be open for public inspection. It is a large house, having three bedrooms and two baths; of the new modernistic type of architecture which originated in Europe about a year ago and now predominates in most new construction in England, France, Germany, Holland, Sweden, Italy, and Belgium.

General Steel Houses are being erected by the hundreds in the fashionable areas of Eastern cities, Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis, New York, and other places.

Mr. Lindop has 50 dealers under him in various parts of the state, and all are looking forward to the first house of the company to be erected in California, now being assembled in Palm Springs.

Every part of the new house is made by mass production in the factory. The steel frame, bolted together, and compressed asbestos panels on the outside as well as heat and cold resisting fireproof materials for the roof, form a building that is both earthquake proof and fireproof. Inside walls are of plywood, and both outside and inside walls are finished in any color desired.

FOREMOST TENNIS STARS DEDICATE NEW COURTS AT DEL TAHQUITZ HOTEL

Exhibition matches dedicated the fine new tennis court of Hotel Del Tahquitz Sunday afternoon before a large crowd. In the first feature Julius Heldman, national junior champion, and Frank Feltrop, professional at the Del Tahquitz, defeated Charles Carr, intercollegiate champion and Byron De Mott, local tennis star, 6-3; 6-3. Young Heldman, whose play was a predominating factor in the doubles victory, won from Carr, 6-3; 6-2, in an interesting singles match.

Chryslers and Plymouths at Plaza Motors

The new 1937 Chryslers and Plymouths on display at the Plaza Garage are attracting a great deal of attention. Six of the new cars have been sold during the past two weeks by A. D. Ezell, manager, and Bill Marvin, his assistant.

Those purchasing cars the past week were Mike Flavin, real estate operator and golf professional; Hill J. Murray of the Indian Store; and Ralph O. Averett, Plaza construction engineer.

Mr. Ezell, manager of Plaza Motors, local Chrysler-Plymouth distributors, reports that car buyers are not only buying because they like the new 1937 models, but because of prompt and thorough service they receive at the Plaza Garage. To have their cars serviced right here at home is a service motorists appreciate, he stated.

The new Chrysler Royal is now in the low-priced field; a big, roomy, 93 horsepower, and all new style. Chrysler Imperial and Airflow models, 110 to 130 horsepower, with automatic overdrive, are unequalled in beauty, luxury, safety and comfort. Big eight-cylinder cars, economical to operate.

Plaza Motors also has a select line of guaranteed used cars at very reasonable prices.

32 Pennies Grow

Everybody is interested in watching the pennies grow. People of Palm Springs have a way of doing things that is unique.

They put up 32 pennies to start an organ fund and like the rapid growth of Palm Springs lawns, those 32 have now grown to 45,451. Stacks of those pennies (10,000 of them) were photographed last Tuesday. Chuck Abbott welded the camera for Los Angeles Times.

El Plaza To Open Soon

Earle Strebe, whose new theatre, El Plaza, is scheduled to open early in December, recently signed a contract with the Electrical Research Products, Inc., for the installation of new Mirrophonic Sound System. Strebe, who knows that the people of Palm Springs demand the best in everything, has gone over the matter very, very thoroughly, and before finally deciding upon the sound system for his new theatre, made a thorough inspection of all available sound reproducing apparatus.

It was not until he had witnessed several demonstrations of the most modern sound reproducing systems that he was won over to Mirrophonic. The creation of Mirrophonic sound is not the result of a few months research and experimentation — it has been years in the making.

Electrical Research Products working in cooperation with the scientists of the Bell Telephone Laboratories and also with the manufacturing experts of Western Electric have developed what is known as Mirrophonic Sound, realizing the dream of many scientists over a long period of years. Months before any theatre installations were sought, a public demonstration was staged in the gigantic Hollywood Bowl where an orchestra of 110 artists under the personal direction of Professor Leopold Stokowski, world-famous conductor, an audience of 25,000 humans thundered their approval and acceptance by a reverberating applause that lasted many minutes at the conclusion of the concert.

Newspaper writers and magazine editors in Eastern states where Mirrophonic has been installed too are very enthusiastic in their praise of the accomplishments of Electrical Research Products and the results secured through the use of Mirrophonic. In Cleveland, Ward Marsh, motion picture editor of the nationally famous Plain Dealer, states:

"One moment please! First ten years of sound has just passed. Up the years from 'Don Juan' and 'Jolson.' Marsh uses this for a heading and states in part:

"Now Western Electric, ERPT's papa, has its newest gadgets in use in the Hanna Theatre during the run of 'Romeo and Juliet.' I confess that this great forward step in the reproduction of sound contributes a good deal to the enjoyment of the finest version of this love-tragedy the world has ever seen and, of course, heard.

"It has the trade name of 'Mirrophonic.' It captures and repeats the sound ripples; that is, it gets you the overtones. I heard distinctly for the first time according to my ears higher and lower notes than ever before in the film theatre. There is such an emphatic improvement in the reproduction of the lower tones that again I felt last Sunday night as I watched 'Romeo and Juliet' that the production company had concealed an orchestra behind the curtain.

"I have had reports from a few hard of hearing patrons who have said that for the first time in a movie house they have not been compelled to sit 'way down front' in order to hear. I do not know how Mirrophonic would work for those who have need of head-phones but the moderately handicapped will, I base my judgment on reports given me, find their picture pleasures increased by this new equipment."

In the current issue of New York's widely read popular weekly magazine, the 'New Yorker,' Motion Picture Editor John Mosher says:

"The whole thing should have value as a reference film for students of the Elizabethan drama. Vulgarians may overlook the fine points and see in it somewhere the usual costume piece done on a rather bigger than average scale. Both classes, I rather think, though are bound to notice the sound effects. That some will miss the usual clatter of the talkies is true, probably; they will complain, I suppose, that the hushed quality of the voices gives them the creeps. That didn't happen to be my own experience. In fact, the triumph of this picture belongs, to my mind, to the electrical engineers, or whatever the men who had charge of the sound machinery are called, and I imagine also to George Cukor, the director. The lines don't ring in your ears, don't thunder across the auditorium at you — a point of value, you know, where poetry is concerned.

"Because the lines are so faithfully and so warily rendered, and because for the first time in the talkies the recording machinery allows for a smooth and pleasant and proper speech, this is really a very definite achievement."

It naturally follows that the Bell going to participate. There is going to be a short play, songs, poems, jokes, proverbs and reports. This class has elected John Tuchfarber as president of the class; other officers are George Cariker, vice-president; Betty Chambers, secretary; and Bob Graham, sergeant-at-arms.

There have been several requests from Banning citizens that evening classes be held in the high school this winter. All such requests were carefully tabulated and given serious consideration. However, since the budget for the year does not include funds with which to finance evening classes and A. D. A. funds from the state would fall far short of paying the expense of such classes, it has been decided not to hold evening classes this year. The school appreciates the interest shown in the possibility of an evening school and regrets that such a program cannot be started.

The sociology students have been devoting their class time on Fridays to current events. The students look through papers and magazines, finding subjects connected with sociology; they endeavor to secure articles which will be interesting to the class. Most of these talks have shown much outside preparation.

As each organization is being asked to pay a fee for its page in the annual this year, the Journalism Club met at the home of Faye Robinson

Tuesday afternoon to discuss possible ways of raising money for this fee. At this time, the members also decided to have club pins. The hostess served refreshments of tea, salad, crackers and cookies. Those present were Miss Wheeler, Dusilla Wilson, Barbara Fay Brown, Millicent Carter, Marjorie Coombs and Mona Andrew.

Bob Moore enrolled this week at B. U. H. S. Bob is from Colton Union High school and is a freshman.

The fifth period foods class gave another delightful luncheon Wednesday with Mary Jean Oerter acting as hostess. Decorations were carried out in autumn colors. Judy Givens was the waitress and Juanita Schiester was the maid, with Ann Rapic, Zelma Crews and Margaret Ritz assisting. The guests included Miss Bird, Miss Harvison, Mrs. Varney, Mr. Beam and Mr. Klech.

E. S. Funk, M. W. D. employee, who resides in Banning, was fined $50 in Judge Philip Truby's court at Beaumont, Tuesday, after pleading guilty before Judge J. J. Fredericks of Banning to striking another machine with his own car and failing to stop and leave his name.

A preliminary examination had been scheduled and a member of the district attorney's office was in Beaumont ready to appear in court when Funk entered his plea of guilty.

COMMENTS ON THE NATIONAL LANDSLIDE

"The Roosevelt victory is of such mammoth proportions as to leave no room for his opponents to be bitter or his critics to cavil. It is so overwhelming that alibis, analyses and explanations seem foolish. The only thing to do is cheerfully accept the result, with wonder that it was possible to be so blind before the election to the irresistible nature of the combination of sentiment and forces behind him."

So wrote Frank Kent, one of the most forthright of Roosevelt critics. This view is generally held by the professional publicists who supported Landon. Those who supported the President say with justice that they anticipated the result, that it was inevitable—though most of them were surprised by the extent of the victory.

For the sake of the record, here is how the great battle of 1936 came out: The President carried 46 states, for a total of 523 electoral votes. Governor Landon carried 2 states, with 8 electoral votes. The popular vote gave the President a majority of about 10,000,000 — 26,000,000 to 16,000,000 for his opponent. It was the most decisive electoral college victory since the two-party system became well established.

So far so good. But when it comes to guessing why Mr. Roosevelt achieved the unprecedented, there is considerable difference of opinion, especially in the Republican camp. Thus, Walter Lippman, who supported Roosevelt in 1932 but turned to Landon in the last campaign, has written that the campaign was more or less normal—that it simply proved the truth of the old adage that an incumbent is unbeatable in a period of industrial improvement. Mr. Lippman also says that if the solid south—which no Republican can hope to carry under any circumstances—is eliminated from consideration, such Republican candidates as Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, won just as handily.

On the other hand, famed William Allen White, one of Landon's closest advisors, sees the election very differently. He believes that "it was not just an election which the country has just undergone, but a political Johnstown flood. The dam gave way which has been slowly filling for 40 years, fed by the waters of Bryanism, of Theodore Roosevelt's progressivism, of La Follette's Wisconsin insurgency, of Wilsonian liberalism, of the progressive bloc in the Senate under the administrations of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover. The waters of the New Deal cover the earth. Republicans did not heed the warnings. . . ."

Generally speaking, this view is widely held. In addition, practically all commentators agree that the Republican campaign was inept and badly handled, that the party organization was about as bad as it could be, and that Landon and his advisors failed to make the best of the situation. By contrast, the Democratic machine under Jim Farley was a marvel of efficiency and effectiveness. There was no waste motion—everything worked with the precision of a series of relay switches.

Furthermore, it is difficult to exaggerate the political importance of the President's personality. A natural born speaker, he has the rare faculty of establishing a personal relationship between himself and the voters. As many point out, no one in the political history of the last century has had so great a grip on the emotions of millions of American citizens.

The important question to be answered now is, What direction will future Roosevelt policies take? And here again there is a wide difference of opinion, even in the President's own camp. Supported as he is by amazingly varied groups, no one but the Chief Executive himself can answer that question. Thus, one New Deal group is of the opinion that the President is likely to take a conservative course, now that business has recovered much of the ground lost during depression, and will refrain from new experiments. This is a small group.

Another group feels that the President will swing sharply to the left, and go whole hog along the path of a socialist or collectivist or fascist program. This too is small.

The largest group, and the one which seems best informed and closest to the White House, feels that the second Roosevelt administration will follow a middle-of-the-road course—that the President will attempt the difficult job of holding the balance between radicalism on the one hand and reaction on the other. In other words, they feel that he will try to maintain a government-regulated capitalism—and at the same time keep the left-wingers as contented as possible.

At this writing, the President himself has given but one indication of future policy, that was his statement that the budget will soon be balanced—a step which, if achieved, will naturally be regarded as conservative, and will be lauded by industry. He seems to feel that better conditions make it possible to reduce government relief spending by a considerable amount. This saving, plus the increase in tax income that results from improved industrial earnings and higher taxes, may do away with Federal deficits.

A CALEXICO VIEW

(Randall Henderson in Calexico Chronicle)

"More Plants Boost Wages" is the cheering news that greets the newspaper reader almost daily now. First it was the steel industry, then the automobile plants, and now the woolen mills and a score of lesser concerns.

And over on the financial pages we read of extra dividends and increased earnings all along the line.

You may differ as to who or what is responsible for this increased distribution of the nation's money supply, but you cannot deny the benefits which will result.

Without doubt, the excess profits tax passed by the last session of congress has been an important factor. This new tax was severely criticised during the campaign, and Governor Landon declared it would be repealed if he were elected.

But the voters evidently did not want it repealed, and the result is that corporate earnings beyond a certain limit will have to be distributed in one form or another before the first of January.

Higher wages and increased dividends mean more purchasing power—and purchasing power is the magic that creates prosperity. Under the circumstances I do not see how the most bitter Roosevelt critic can be pessimistic.

These wage increases will also have another far-reaching effect. Well-paid workers are the best insurance in the world against Communism. As a weapon for fighting the Reds, a general boost in the payrolls will be more effective than all the editorials Hearst could write if he lived to be as old as Methuselah.

Of all the post-mortems written in behalf of the Republican party since November 3, the best that has come to my attention was from the typewriter of Walter Lippman.

He summarized the Republican position in this one brief paragraph: "The party entered this campaign with the fatal delusion in its high command that it could win. That was never possible. All that it ever had a chance of doing was to reconstitute itself as a minority party capable of offering an effective opposition. To do that it had to have a coherent and intelligent body of principles. For while dominant parties live by their success, an opposition must live by ideas."

MUSTARD WILL BE PLANTED ON HILLS

To check erosion on 2,500 acres of the recent Etiwanda canyon burn, mustard will be planted by CCC enrollees within two weeks.

The U. S. forest service will appropriate $500 to match a like amount from the Etiwanda Water Company. W. S. Brown, executive assistant in San Bernardino National Forest, said. Seed will be purchased from the lowest bidder whose product satisfactorily passes the five-day germination test.

Mustard is used for emergency cover. Permanent types of vegetation cannot be started at this late season.

Enrollees will be transferred from Miller Canyon camp to temporary quarters in Lytle Creek canyon. They will be supervised by T. P. King, a summer ranger.

FAMOUS TENNIS CHAMPION IS HERE

Miss Alice Marble, national women's singles tennis champion, returned to Palm Springs this week with her instructor, Miss Eleanor Tennant, former tennis professional at the Racquet Club. They drove down from Los Angeles with Mrs. Al Wertheimer and Mrs. George Goldenberg, and are guests at the Wertheimer home.

Among the numerous social affairs for Miss Marble and Miss Tennant were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mandel entertained in their honor at luncheon at the Racquet Club on Tuesday; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Robinson had a cocktail party for them at the same place Tuesday night; Joseph Schenck had a large dinner party in their honor at The Dunes Monday night.

While here they have enjoyed tennis matches on the Racquet Club, Desert Inn and El Mirador courts.

World's Youngest Opera Conductor to Direct "Aida"

Operatic history will be made on Thanksgiving night, Nov. 26, at the Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles, when James Guthrie, the world's youngest conductor, will direct the Maurice Frank, who declares this native Californian to be one of the greatest "finds" in musical history. "Never in my entire career have I ever seen a greater, or a more natural born operatic conductor than this youth," declared Mr. Frank.

"I predict his direction of our presentation of Aida will be one of the highlights of music in Southern California. He has fire, poise and a natural enthusiasm for his chosen profession which will carry him to operatic heights, and I know his direction will equal that of famous conductors who have had many years of experience."

Guthrie was born in San Bernardino and is a graduate of the University of Redlands. He has been guest conductor of various Southern California orchestras, and last year conducted Marcella Craft's Riverside civic opera. He is the son of James A. Guthrie, managing editor of the San Bernardino Sun.

The cast for the production includes noted artists. Alfredo Gandolfi, baritone, will sing "Amanasso." Mr. Gandolfi will be remembered by music lovers as one of the Metropolitan Opera company's leading stars.

Another noted artist on the program is Tandy MacKenzie, the internationally famous tenor who will sing "Rhodames." Mr. MacKenzie has starred at various times during the summer season at the Hollywood bowl, and has appeared in a number of major picture productions.

The title role of "Aida" will be sung by California's own dramatic soprano, Eleanor Woodforde, who has proven tremendously popular wherever she has appeared. Miss Woodforde has performed in many cities in the United States and has been nationally acclaimed by operatic critics.

The role of "Amneris" will be sung by Clarence Gifford, who is recognized by musical authorities as the possessor of one of the most beautiful contralto voices ever heard in this country.

There will be a cast of 200 artists in this production of "Aida," and Mr. Frank declares there will be no expense spared in making this a real operatic event in Los Angeles.

Many demands for seats are coming in from music lovers all over the state, who are coming to Los Angeles on Thanksgiving day for the purpose of attending the U. S. C. U. C. L. A. football game.

Tickets are on sale at the Southern California Music Co., in Los Angeles, as well as through its various branch offices.

BAMBOO ENCLOSURE FORMS INTERESTING PATIO AT THE DOLL HOUSE

Like a bamboo-walled outpost found in a clearing of an African jungle is the impression conveyed by the re-modeled Doll House, unique tea room northwest of Del Tahquitz Hotel.

Jane Manchester and her brother, Al Thompson, have spared no trouble or expense in converting two outdoor patios into fascinating beer gardens, surrounded by thickly-woven bamboo cane brakes. Here the guests are seated beneath the star-lit desert sky, in a setting that is truly enchanting.

The Doll House features Mexican dinners, serving Carta Blanca beer imported from Mexico, which was awarded first prize as the world's best beer.

How F.H.A. LOANS Operate to make payments less than rent

Study the following carefully and you will be surprised to learn you can buy a new home and pay less per month than rent under the F.H.A. plan and these payments not only include taxes, insurance and interest, but also principal and will, over a period of years, pay the entire amount of loan.

Advantage of F.H.A. specifications and inspection during construction

The cost of F.H.A. construction is much greater than ordinary good construction, the amount of steel and extra material used in building, makes a very much better house. The Government makes several inspections during construction to see that requirements are met.

What will be the future value of Banning homes after the M. W. D. construction?

The writer has given this careful consideration, and is so certain of the future that he is investing everything he has. The M.W.D. will have a large maintenance program here and regardless of this and the fact that the desert development for years to come will make Banning "The Commercial Center" the climate is here that is destined to make Banning a real "Health Center" of a substantial size. My prediction is that 10 years from now we will have a city of considerable size with real estate values to correspond.

Look over the following list, all of which are real buys even for cash, but an opportunity on terms of

10% down and 1% per month (Less than 10% can be arranged)

No. 1

F.H.A. Home on North First St., with 2 bedrooms, tile, fireplace, heating system, $3600. Down payment $360. Monthly payments $36.00. Will rent for $45 per month unfurnished.

Has a $2500 F. H. A. Loan payable $27.50 per month, including taxes and insurance included in above payments. When $1100 has been paid you get deed and assume the loan and all you pay is $27.50 per month.

No. 2

3 bedrooms and extra $\frac{1}{2}$ bath. A wonderful home, will rent for \$55.00 per month unfurnished. \$4750. Down payment \$475. Monthly payment \$47.50.

Has a $3300 F.H.A. Loan payable $31.11 per month including taxes, insurance. When $1450 has been paid you get deed and assume the loan and all you pay is $31.11 per month.

No. 3

A very beautiful home on corner lot. Will rent for $60.00 unfurnished, at $5000. $500 down and $50 per month.

Has a $3600 F.H.A. Loan payable at $33.45 per month, including taxes, insurance. When $1400 has been paid you get deed and assume loan and all you pay is $33.45 per month.

No. 4

A very fine 3 bedroom house on Hayes Street at 8th St. Will rent unfurnished at $50 per month. Price $4250. Down payment $425. Monthly payment $42.50

No. 5

A wonderful 2 bedroom house on Hayes Street at 8th St. Will rent for $45.00 per month. Offered for $4000. Down payment $400 and $40 per month.

No. 6

A fine store building in Banning, well worth $6500 at $5000. Store is rented to permanent tenant and pays wonderful returns on investment. If interested in a very fine income proposition, INVESTIGATE!

Why pay rent when you can own your own home at less than rent and actually pay them out on that basis? Is that not better than to accumulate rent receipts?

All above property is in Banning.

Nos. 7 and 8

Two fine little homes on Allen St., under lease to choice tenants and can be sold only to parties interested in an extra fine investment for income property.

No. 9
In Beaumont

3 Bedroom House on California Ave. A real buy at $3500. $350 down and $35.00 per month.

No. 10
In Beaumont

A very fine 3 bedroom home with large rooms and furnace heat, 2 garages. This place is worth $6000 but offered at $4750. Down payment $475, monthly payments $47.50.

The type of homes I am offering will always rent in case you should have occasion to leave them on a basis that will in time pay the entire cost of the property.

Remember to responsible parties the 10% down payment can be arranged on monthly payments.

Sutherland Invites Farley to Come to Palm Springs

Ralph R. Sutherland has invited James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Campaign Committee to come to Palm Springs for a "resting up" process to rest from a strenuous and victorious political campaign.

Just prior to the election, Mr. Sutherland received a letter from Farley, with whom he is acquainted, thanking him for a slogan and poem suggestions and expressing appreciation for Sutherland's interest.

On November 4 Mr. Sutherland wrote Mr. Farley and, after congratulating him as "the master political manager in American history," expressed his invitation to visit Palm Springs.

He wrote in part, "I am proud to report to you that this Village of Palm Springs, California, The Winter Playground of the Rich, has given President Roosevelt a very substantial majority."

"You are undoubtedly in need of rest and relaxation, and I most heartily invite Mrs. Farley and yourself to visit Palm Springs and enjoy its sunshine and desert climate at this time."

New Hats Tell Fairy Tales

If you see a gawky gent staring at some lady's hat, don't think he's rude, or just plain dumb. He's simply trying to decipher the lady's favorite fairy tale. The new hats on display at L. Magnin's Palm Springs shop have various tales and sonnets illustrated on the hat bands. For instance, if you see a lady wearing a chic new chapeau with pictures of a cat and a fiddle, or a cow jumping over the moon, the laughing little dog, and a dish carrying off the spoon, you will know the lady still enjoys nursery rhymes, and if you are smart, you will know which particular rhyme she likes best. Read the hats, boys, and know your ladies.

Miss Helen Lindsay, manager of Magnin's at El Mirador, yesterday showed the cub reporter of this newspaper some of the new merchandise which has just arrived for the holiday season. In addition to the many interesting hats referred to above, there are French and domestic bags for evening or sportswear, lovely new Carlin merchandise, novelty jewelry, special Magnin sizes of Kent playing cards and no end of fineries dear to the heart of milady, which mere man knows not how to describe.

OLYMPIC CHAMPIONS GIVE EXHIBITION AT DESERT INN POOL

Harold "Dutch" Smith, 1932 Olympic high diving champion; Farid Samika, Egyptian who took the same title in 1928; and Mickey Riley, who won the ten-foot springboard Olympic crown in 1932, gave an interesting exhibition at the Desert Inn pool Sunday morning.

The trio thrilled the 100 and more spectators with beautifully executed dives and presented comedy diving stunts. Smith also gave demonstration of the new and old swimming strokes.

OPEN AIR LUNCHEON PLACE OPENS TODAY

Mac's Place, a new open air luncheon spot next to the new Rose Hotel on Palm Canyon Drive, opens today. Here hot dogs and hamburgers are promoted to a place among high class foods and a French dip sandwich will be featured.

Pure fresh fruit juices, soft drinks and silex coffee offer a wide choice of beverages to thirsty bicyclers and hikers. Light breakfasts will be served to early risers.

Other features of Mac's place are his available bicycle stand, drive-in service, and free parking for customers.

PIPES REPLACE PIANO STRINGS

A new musical instrument, the Symphonet, resembling a small piano which plays on pipes instead of strings, has been introduced in Los Angeles.

It has 55 piano keys which send padded hammers thumping against 55 reed-like metal pipes ranging from 6 to 28 inches in length. The long pipes produce the deep notes, and the short pipes the high section of the scale.

Music of the new instrument is a cross between the xylophone and a fast-played chimes. High notes resemble chimes. Low notes, with the stops released so that each blow on the pipes vibrates, can be made to resemble with weird accuracy the far-off striking of a tower clock.

MANY GAY PARTIES AT FREEMAN'S CAFE

Freeman's Cafe has been the scene of many parties and gay gatherings of late. Dick Powell and his wife, the beautiful Joan Blondell, were being snapped by Hyman Fink, the famous Photoplay Magazine bulb-pressed, in the Tropical Cocktail lounge the other a. m., the while a tropic rain fell behind the bar. The newest stunt of the boys behind the bar is to am themselves with dainty little parasols the minute the rain begins to fall. Other late-stayers-up seen in this popular spot have been the Ritz Brothers; Les Stoeffen and his wife; Stan Barbee, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey; the Richard Arlens and many others.

Week-end guests at the Colonial House included George White, Beverly Hills, famous for his "Scandals" presentations; Mr. Harry Rosenthal, Jean and June Gale, Beverly Hills; Arline Judge, Beverly Hills; and Pat Di Cicco, Hollywood.

PAUL SUNDAY, SON OF FAMOUS EVANGELIST, LEASES HOME IN PALM SPRINGS

Paul Sunday, son of the famous evangelist, the late Billy Sunday, has leased the C. A. Warner residence on Palo Verde avenue, and will spend the balance of the season here with his family. Mr. Sunday is a prominent bond broker of Hollywood. He and his wife are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Barnes, who own a home across the street from the one the Sundays have leased. Mr. Warner, owner of the property, has moved to Los Angeles.

Petition for Federal Aid for Road to Idyllwild

The Riverside county board of supervisors Monday took steps to obtain federal aid for the Banning-Idyllwild road. Supervisor Talbot voted "No."

The motion, offered by Supervisor Dillon, authorized the chairman to sign a letter addressed to the state highway commission, requesting that body to assist in having the road designated as a "national forest highway," necessary before the forest service can participate in its construction.

The text of the letter follows:

"The county of Riverside has made a new location for a highway from Banning to Idyllwild in this county. We have officially adopted the survey made of this route. Approximately three miles of this new location, adjoining Idyllwild, has been completed by the Riverside county prison camp.

"The location and standards of design being used on this highway have been reviewed by the Bureau of Public Roads and the National Forest service, and have their approval.

"The plans provide for the construction of your 24-foot standard roadbed, widened on curves as per your specifications. A few curves of minimum radius of 250 feet have been planned. The ruling maximum grade is six per cent, and the maximum of seven per cent is used on short sections of a few hundred feet.

"This road will connect State Highway Route 26 at Banning—U. S. Highway 99—with the Idyllwild National Forest highway at Idyllwild, and thence over the latter route to State Highway Route 64 near the Keen Camp postoffice. It will afford quick access for fire-fighting equipment and men from forest highway headquarters, or supply depots of men to the truck trails which intersect it.

"The present highway public serving this area of the San Bernardino National forest was constructed 30 years ago. It is narrow and crooked, and of such a low standard that fire-fighting equipment using it cannot reach a distant fire within a satisfactory time limit. A higher standard road appears to be a necessity in the present plans for controlling forest fires in this area.

"This highway being constructed by this county will make accessible to the people of Southern California a large and desirable recreational area along its route, which is a part of the national forest and state park system. Its construction will complete a link in the recreational highways of Southern California, and be an asset not alone of Riverside county but of the entire state and nation. To a number of the people of Riverside county it will be a safe and short route to the nearest mountain resort area.

"We are committed to the construction as planned of this highway with our industrial road camp—county prison camp. However, we feel that in consideration of the benefit its construction will be to the national forest, the people of Southern California and the entire state, that we can reasonably expect assistance in financing its construction from funds provided by congress for national forest highways.

"Before the forest service can participate in its construction, it must be designated as a national forest highway. That this may be done, we earnestly request your assistance and favorable recommendation to the Bureau of Public Roads and the National Forest service."

SPACIOUS BRILL HOME SALE IS ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Winifred Reibold of Beverly Hills has purchased the Blanche Brill Estate in Merito Vista and plans to make Palm Springs her permanent winter home.

This property is known as one of the most exclusive estates in the village. The grounds of nearly three acres, under a high state of cultivation, is enclosed by a wall giving privacy to a Spanish type home containing nine rooms.

Mrs. Reibold has taken possession of the property and is making extensive alterations; converting the caretaker's lodge into a game room and adding additional servants' quarters.

Mrs. Brill intends to remain in Palm Springs and will start soon to improve her Las Palmas property.

The buyer, Mrs. Winifred Reibold, was represented by Elizabeth Swallow of Munholland & Company. The seller, Mrs. Blanche Brill, was represented by the Harold Hicks office.

WILLIAM P. DEEGAN CALLED TO REWARD

William P. Deegan, age 70, died suddenly Monday morning from a heart attack, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Waskow, of the Desert Furniture Co. and Palm Springs Solarium.

Mr. Deegan came here early this season from Cleveland, Ohio, to visit with his daughter. He had always enjoyed robust health, and death came without warning. He was a former stationary engineer of Cleveland.

Surviving are Mrs. Waskow of Palm Springs, and two sons, Charles and William, Jr., of Cleveland.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at the Catholic church, with the Rev. Fr. Lehans in charge. Burial was in the local cemetery. Wiefels & Son, morticians of Banning, had charge of arrangements.

BREAKFAST RIDE AND COMEDY OF ERRORS

All kinds of casualties disturbed the usual serenity of the Desert Riders' breakfast ride last Wednesday. Dr. Henry Hoagland, round-up boss, was unable to mount a horse because of a damaged knee, so stayed in bed. Straw Boss Lee Morrison also stayed in bed, a different one. Top Wrangler Tony Burke, who mailed out directions to find camp, rode by the location and nearly to Andreas Canyon, searching for his bacon and eggs. With him was the Rev. Mr. Macartney, being led astray. They found Chuck Abbott and the boys, finally, with a gang of hungry riders, a mile from the appointed spot, due to the chuck wagon sticking in the sand. Last year's president, Chuck Morrison, officiated in admitting W. E. Alexander into the Caterpillars Club for making a three-point landing (one hand, one foot and one fanny) out of the saddle into the sand.

Among those to attend were: Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Havens with their daughter, Jeanette, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah H. Hicks, Dr. and Mrs. J. Robertson Macartney, Mr. and Mrs. T. Barry Atwater, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. MacDowell, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Doyle, Mmes. Norma Olives, Marion Fulford, Clare Winter, Fleta Wroughton, Hulet Smith, Dovie Colley, Janet M. Manwaring, Arol W. Paulson, George M. Mann, T. Marie Belyea, O. S. McKinney, the Misses Dolly Harrison, Francesca Murieta, Madeline Thomas, R. G. Dugan, Jean Fulford, Helen Lindsay, Marsha Ann Henderson, Helen Peck, Billie Clark and Dr. F. M. White.

Also Charles F. Morrison, Paul Mreuggemann, Anthony Burke, Joe Sparey, Eugene V. Griffes, W. E. Alexander, George M. Mann and Dr. Don Rush.

Next Wednesday the riders will meet for breakfast on the mesa just above the reservoir at the entrance to Chino canyon.

BURKE TELLS OF CAPTURE OF HOLY LAND BY BRITISH

The grueling campaign in the Near East during the dark days of 1916-17-18, when troops under General Allenby captured The Holy Land from the Turks, was vividly described to Banning Kiwanians Friday noon by Anthony Burke of Palm Springs, who had been a lieutenant in the British army under Allenby.

Mr. Burke told of the capture of Jerusalem by three British Tommies, who entered the city against orders and discovered that the Turks had evacuated, whereupon the British army made a triumphal entry into the city.

He told about the hazardous crossing of the Jordan river during flood time under Turkish fire, in order to capture Jericho. The loss of life in this campaign was tremendous.

He witnessed a horrible massacre in an Arabian village when one tribe of Arabs attempted to annihilate another after the Turks had fled. In all, it was a strenuous experience, this warfare on the most barren and hottest of all deserts, with long marches in deep sand, where motor transportation could not be used, and where flies and insects of many sorts added to the discomfort. It was not surprising that only a small portion of the men survived.

In an interesting manner Mr. Burke described a 500-mile march across the trackless desert to meet warring Bedouins and Turks, who were officered by Germans and Austrians. He told of one regiment marching out across the desert, never to return, and to this day it is not known where or how they met their fate.

Anthony Burke was "just a kid in search of adventure" when he enlisted with the British forces, he said, but he little dreamed what adventure it would be or that he would be sent to the Near East.

NAVY AIRPLANE CRASHES AT PALM SPRINGS AIRPORT

Flying a Wasp-powered Vaught training ship, two pilots from the aircraft battle force of the United States Navy at San Diego cracked up Tuesday at the local airport while making a forced landing.

The under-carriage was torn from the ship, the propeller bent and the wings badly damaged when the ship went over on its back. The pilots, who escaped with only a few scratches and minor injuries, were Lieut. L. X. odson and Lieut. L. H. McAlpine.

COACHELLA SAND TO BE MILLED FOR GOLD AND SILVER

After months of prospecting and sampling and actual mill runs by a syndicate of Los Angeles and San Francisco mining men, leases have been closed on thousands of acres of desert sands near Edom, 30 miles east of Banning.

The Kubic ranch appears to be the focal center of the rich deposits. Mr. Kubic has leased his 200 acres to the syndicate on a 10 per cent royalty basis. According to the engineers' reports the whole ranch assays $2.54 in gold and 65 cents in silver, with an actual saving by mill test of $2.198, per cubic yard.

Leases on thousands of acres have been acquired by the syndicate, and it appears that things are to move fast from now on.

The extraction of the fine gold is to be made by a new invention of what might be termed an electrico-amalgamation process. A test mill of 65 cubic yards per day has been in operation for some time and it is found that with a saving of $2.10 per yard it will gather $3549 per month.

The cost of operation of this single unit has been found to be: Royalty $349.90, labor $676, fuel (gas and oil) $163.80, water $20.40, incidentals $100; total cost, $1315.10. Showing a net profit of $2233.90.

When it is considered that only one machine has been used and these two men employed, and there are thousands of acres to be worked to an unknown depth, the immenseness of the project can only be surmised. The human mind can not comprehend the results.

They were treated at the Reid Hospital and Clinic.

Why Grow Old?

(By Dr. Maurice Le Bell, D. C.)

After my last week's article suggesting the mirror test, I received several letters. A few remarked that it was tactless to analyze a person's appearance that carefully—but the others—

Dr. Le Bell

Let me tell about one in particular. This lady claims her weight is about 142, and her age is "slightly" over thirty. She says that she was quietly, comfortably and happily growing old and contentedly broad, until she read the article. Her first reaction was to sneer—her second was to honestly analyze herself. This is the result:

"Here I am—slightly over thirty—still in the first blush of youth—well maybe a deep blush. My husband is also in his thirties, and still turns to look at an attractive girl, while I, although I've only been married a few years, hesitate to put on a bathing suit. When I look back and then ahead, at the rate I'm going, I'll be a doddering old woman by the time I'm forty, instead of preparing for my second honeymoon (with the same husband, so what do you think I'm going to do? Yes, sir, you're right. I'm going to become young again—regain that streamline figure, bring back the smile of contentment, and most important—think young thoughts."

However, in a closing paragraph, the lady asks me for advice. She says that since my article appeared regarding looking farther than the front view, she has developed the unfortunate habit of turning to look at people as they walk past her on the street, wondering whether the care taken of the face justified the careless attitude taken regarding the rest of the body—and then she worries whether other people turn around and look at her.

My advice to her is to regain her streamlined figure, and then worry if people don't turn around for a second look.

Here is the theory that in my humble opinion should be followed. Many people, as the years roll by, decide to regain youth by burning the candle at both ends, trying to cram as much enjoyment in one day as possible, lest Father Time catch up. The difficulty, however, is that Father Time and a hangerover catch up at the same time the next day.

Don't seek the fountain of youth by trying to outdo youth. Seek it within your own body by keeping that body healthy—vital. Ponce de Leon should have looked into himself, for the Fountain of Youth is in the glands and modern scientists have proven that correct diet, supplying the necessary vitamins and minerals can prolong youth. Why grow old?

TEMPORARY PRISON CAMP PROPOSED TO CARE FOR INCOMING INDIGENTS

Reporting to the board of supervisors Monday the failure of plans, because of legal technicalities, for the cooperation of the sheriffs and boards of supervisors of the 10 southern counties in establishing a blockade at the state line for keeping out undesirable transients, Sheriff Carl F. Rayburn said it has been decided to embark on a plan of keeping them "on the move."

The sheriff recommended that in order to care for the number of transients that will be turned back by Los Angeles county at its own border, where a patrol is being maintained, Riverside county establish a temporary prison camp separate from the county industrial road camp, for taking care of the transients and putting them to work on roads.

Following the discussion, Supervisor R. W. Stanfield suggested the appointment of a committee to study

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

One of the Bible selections presents these verses from Luke: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her; and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

The Lesson-Sermon includes also this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Do you say the time has not yet come in which to recognize Soul as substantial and able to control the body? Remember Jesus, who nearly nineteen centuries ago demonstrated the power of Spirit and said, 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also,' and who also said, 'But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth.'" the proposal to establish a temporary camp. Chairman W. C. Moore named Supervisors Stanfield and Walter V. Pittman, the sheriff and the superintendent of the county prison camp.

It has been proposed, the sheriff stated, that 17 men be placed on the border. "It was finally decided that the only feasible way left to handle the problem is to keep the transients circulating, and arrest a few in order to show them that the officers mean business," he said.

"We shall need three or four extra men to keep them moving. To make the plan successful, we have got to be in a position to throw them in. We can't afford to mix them with the prison camp inmates, as they would be sure to stir up trouble. The bunch we got this morning included four labor agitators."

E. C. Wickerd, superintendent of the prison camp, agreed that it would not be wise to have the transients placed in the camp at Idyllwild, that the mixing of the groups would probably lead to serious trouble and require a doubling of the guard.

The sheriff stated that about 95 per cent of the transients that have been picked up turn out to be ex-convicts, many of them two and three-time losers.

Dripping Springs, former site of the prison camp, was suggested as being the logical location for the transient camp, and that work could be provided in the improvement of the Deluz road.

Joe Rosenquist, former clerk at the Banning postoffice, started work Wednesday morning in the Palm Springs postoffice.

Harness Events Scheduled at Field Club

The executive committee of the Palm Springs Field Club is considering a series of Sunday and holiday harness matinees. Dr. Henry Hoagland, president of the Club, emphasized that there will be no pari-mutuel at this track.

In addition to the harness events there will be many other special features such as the Desert Circus and gymkhanas.

Arrangements are being made at the track for the accommodation of fine horses which will be brought here both for the harness competition and for polo. Considerable work is being done at the Field Club to make polo a regular feature.

The Field Club executive committee and P. H. Halzriter of Los Angeles have mutually terminated Halzriter's five-year contract as manager of the organization.

Earl Coffman, vice-president of the Club, in a telephone conversation with Carleton Burke, chairman of the California Horse Racing Board, Monday morning, told Mr. Burke of the tentative plans of Palm Springs for harness events here. Burke expressed his delight over the plans and said there is renewed interest in the East and elsewhere in harness racing. He is an outstanding sportsman of California and is interested in the promulgation of the amateur side of the horse racing game and other equestrian events.

Among the Old Books

"Age is a recommendation in four things—old wood to burn, old wine to drink, old friends to trust, and old books to read."—Alonzo Aragon.

The Palm Springs Public Library is a library whose shelves are filled with old books. Alonzo in his references to them does not take into account the fact that the recent books of history and science are the most up-to-date and accurate and therefore must be recommended too. Such informational literature the library is sorry not to have. But he is speaking of those satisfying books, the old ones, that we like to read again and again.

A few days ago a reader (in the library profession a customer is not a customer, not a client or a patron, but a reader) took from the shelf our copy of "The Virginian," saying reminiscently, "Here is a book I read over every year or two. What a scoundrel Trampas is! He is the villain perfect."

The reader recalled this now-famous passage:

"You can rise up and tell them you lie," the Virginian said.

"Trampas was still for a moment in the dead silence.

"I thought you claimed you and her wasn't acquainted," said he then. "Stand on your laigs, you polecat, and say you're a liar!"

"Trampas' hand moved behind him. "Quit that," said the Southerner. "The eyes of man is the prince of deadly weapons. Trampas looked in the Virginian's and slowly rose."

In exchange we related our own pleasure in re-reading certain of Barrie's plays. One bit from "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" never fails us:

(Four old charwomen are drinking tea and discussing the war. Three have sons fighting. The fourth has none, but not to be out of things, she has invented Kenneth.)

Mrs. Dowey (the criminal) Kenneth writes to me every week. (There are exclamations, the dauntless old thing holds aloft a packet of letters.) Look at this. All his.

(The Haggerty woman frowns.)

Mrs. Twymley: Alfred has little time for writing, being a bombardier. Mrs. Dowey (relentlessly). Do your letters begin "Dear Mother?"

Mrs. Twymley: Generally.

Mrs. Mickleham: Invariable.

The Haggerty woman: Every time.

Mrs. Dowey (delivering the knock-out blow): Kenneth's begin "Dearest Mother."

Here, then, on the library shelves, you may find remembered friends. You may also find some book that you have missed, others that you have

P. S. Village Tract Is Half Sold Out

Lots in the exclusive Palm Springs Village Tract are selling rapidly, and it is reported that there will soon be a price advance on the remaining lots. This fine tract, subdivided and on sale by Munholland & Co., consists of diamond shaped lots, so that every house on the street will have an unobstructed view of desert and mountains. It has been more than half sold out.

Recent purchasers are Mrs. Mary T. Hanley of La Canada; Harry G. Wilhampson of South Pasadena, who purchased an income lot; William Reed of Long Beach, president of the Hancock Oil Co.; Clifford B. Linbocker of Long Beach, official of the same company; Mrs. J. W. Young of Hollywood, Florida, who stopped over on her return to Florida and was so entranced with the view of desert and mountains that she decided to purchase here and stated that she would mail plans here soon for her new home; and Mrs. Bess L. Swaffield of Long Beach.

Water mains have been laid throughout the tract, and gas and electric lines will follow soon. A fine new house is under construction, and more will follow soon, for most of the purchasers have indicated their intention to improve their property this year or next.

The Palm Springs Village Tract is located a short distance from El Mirador Hotel on Palm Canyon Drive. The land has a gradual slope to the south and east and in subdividing the property the lots were so designed that each owner may enjoy an unobstructed view of the desert and mountains.

Careful consideration has been given to building restrictions so that no undesirable structures will be built. Approval of all plans by the tract committee before construction begins will keep the entire development architecturally harmonious and up to the high standard of Palm Springs. The committee approval is necessary only on the exterior design of the building, thus allowing the individual complete freedom as to floor plan and interior. All restrictions have been filed for record so that owners are fully protected against any possibility of change in the future.

All homesites are large, the majority with 100 foot street frontage so that there will be ample space between dwellings.

Fred Bagin Opens Cowboy Stables

Fred Bagin, pioneer cowboy guide of the desert, has opened his "Cowboy Riding Stable" on the Indian reservation east of the center of town. Mr. Bagin is known to most of the devotees of horseback riding who have visited Palm Springs during the past ten years, for he came here originally to serve as guide for the old Norman Farra stables. He is a favorite with the children, and many a youngster has learned how to ride under Fred Bagin's supervision. He also gives instruction in riding, English and Western style. His stable can be reached by riding out Arenas Road, east from the Plaza Garage, to the Catholic chapel on the reservation, then turning to the right a short distance to the stable. He has a fine string of saddle horses at that location.

DESCENDANT OF EARLY SPANISH FAMILY OPENS "EL SOMBREO" CAFE

Miss Erlinda Sepulveda, fifth generation of an early California Spanish family, announces the opening of "El Sombreo" Cafe on North Palm Canyon Drive next to the Betty Barger Beauty Salon. Real Spanish dishes of all kinds will be featured and on Saturday evenings Spanish musicians will play in the outdoor patio.

Miss Sepulveda has taken part in many social festivities around Los Angeles and also takes an active part in a great deal of the Spanish festivals which are a part of the Southern California social life.

CROWBAR HITS MAN IN FACE; BADLY HURT

Gymkhana at Local Stables Next Sunday

At 2:15 this Sunday the horse lovers of Palm Springs and their mounts will meet together at the Araby Palm Springs Stables for what promises to be a most enjoyable equine affair. Old-timers and newcomers, alike, are busy getting their stock in shape to vie with each other for the coveted ribbons.

Miss Margaret Pooley of the Claremont Stables will judge the jumping and the three-gaited classes and Mr. Alexander will judge the stock horse class and the cowboy working outfit class.

Some of the horses and riders who will participate Sunday are: Miss Ione McKim of Imperial, on her big black horse California Knight; the McKim's Desert Dawn will also appear in this class and in the jumping.

Mrs. Paul Grimm has recently purchased a beautiful strawberry roan and it is expected that this will be his first appearance before the public. Alvah Hicks also has a lovely three-gaited horse which he intends to enter. Miss Jean Fulford will ride for the Deep Well.

Johnny and Lester Vance of the Deep Well, Tex Miller of Smoke Tree Ranch, Jim Devers of Rogers Stable, Kenneth Calkins and Jack Ross of the Araby Palm Springs Stables and Ash and Ernie McDonald of McDonald's Stable will put on a fine performance in the stock horse class.

Also among the jumpers will be Miss Helen Murphy's Lucky of the Deep Well Ranch, Wildfire of the Araby Palm Springs Stables and Mr. Strebe's big sorrel.
